'LIBERTY FLEET DAY'

Land Calls For More Speed In Construction of Bridge of Ships.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt, scorning Americans "who preach the gospel of fear," today promised full protection against attack for the American merchant marine as he bade Godspeed to 14 new ships which slid down the ways of shipyards on all coasts in the largest mass launching since the first World war.

The president's address, transcribed in advance and then played for shipyards workers and luncheon guests at Pacific, Atlantic and gulf shipyards, was the high spot of "Liberty Fleet Day," sponsored by the U. S. maritime commission in observance of the first launching of the 312 new emergency type liberty cargo ships.

"We Americans as a whole," the president said, "cannot listen to those few Americans who preach the gospel of fear—who say in effect that they are still in favor of freedom of the seas but who would have the United States tie up our vessels in our ports.

"That attitude is neither truthful nor honest.

"We propose that these ships sail the seas as they are intended to. We propose to the best of our ability to protect them from torpedo, from shell or from bomb."

His brief address was first made public at 6 a. m. (EST) when a transcription of his remarks was played for guests and workmen attending the launching of the C-2 cargo vessel, the Surprise, at the

TIME CHANGES

But Mansfielders Won't Have To Move Clocks Back.

While the end of daylight saving time at 2 a. m. Sunday will give 50,000,000 Americans another hour of sleep, it will mean only a change in radio programs for Mansfielders.

Network programs will be heard an hour later, beginning Sunday night, as the eastern states turn their clocks back an hour. Daylight saving time has been in effect there since April 27.

Chicago has decided to retain its daylight saving schedule until Oct. 26, giving the city the equal of Eastern standard time, the same as Ohio.

ASSUMES METER COLLECTION JOB

Traffic Squad Takes Over as Legislation For Employing Collector Expires.

Collection of receipts from Mansfield's parking meters was taken over today by the traffic squad after Lloyd L. Kochenderfer, collector for the past ten months, expressed his unwillingness to continue bond unless permanent appointment was given him.

Kochenderfer has been serving as collector and repair man since last November when the meters went into operation. Council has never given him any long-term appointment but has repeatedly extended his service in short stages.

Last month, when the city made the final payment for the purchase of the meters from the Michael Art Bronze company, the meter company suspended its payment of $85 monthly toward Kochenderfer's salary.

Council had been paying $60 monthly to the collector up until August. At the August council meeting, funds were appropriated to pay his salary until the expiration of his appointment, which occurred Friday.

Under the traffic squad ordinance, the patrolmen, who are paid $110 monthly in comparison

PRESIDENT, WIFE RETURN TO HOME

Go to Hyde Park Following Rites For G. Hall Roosevelt.

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(U.P.)—President and Mrs. Roosevelt retired to the seclusion of Hyde Park house today after a journey back to the first lady's childhood home where burial services were held for her only brother—G. Hall Roosevelt.

Among ancient trees already assuming autumn colors, the president and Mrs. Roosevelt stood in the old churchyard of St. Paul's Episcopal church at Tivoli, Mrs. Roosevelt's former home, for the final rites. Hall Roosevelt's flag draped coffin was placed in the vault of Mrs. Roosevelt's family. Services were conducted by the Rev. Charles Dawes Champlin, pastor of St. Paul's.

Sent To Pen In Auto Death; Judge Warns 'Drinkers'

Asserting that he was going to "set an example for people who drink and drive," Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston today sentenced Milo W. RESCUE SAILOR

U. S. Destroyers Take Men From Raft In Caribbean.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—(AP)—U. S. destroyers rescued Third Mate Francis Holles and Crewman James Moore of the foundered steamer Libby Maine from a raft in the Caribbean sea at 1 a. m. today.

The survivors, described as in good condition, said a third man was washed off the raft by stormy seas during the 36 hours between sinking of the ship and the rescue.

Other rafts were reported farther south, and destroyers and planes were searching for them.

The Libby Maine carried a crew of 28. She left Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 25 with steel rails for San Juan. On Thursday she radioed she was sinking in a storm 400 miles southwest of Puerto Rico.

The 1,811-ton vessel also was known as the Ethel Skakel, a name she was to be given on arrival on the east coast.

HUNDREDS SEE CRASH VICTIMS

View Bodies of Mansfielders Killed at Willard; Services For Girl Tuesday.

Hundreds of persons filed through the Wappner Funeral home yesterday and today to view the bodies of three Mansfield youths killed Thursday night in a grade crossing tragedy near Willard, while funeral arrangements were completed at Willard for Miss Janet Lucille Williams, 18, of Shiloh, fourth victim of the crash.

Services for the girl who was riding with the Mansfield youths will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Willard United Brethren church. Rev. Paul W. Sharp will officiate. Burial will be in the Greenlawn cemetery at Willard. The body is at the Fink Funeral home in Willard.

Surviving Miss Williams are her father, M. E. Williams, Shiloh druggist; her mother and a brother, Edward, in Arizona, and a sister, Rosella, of Willard. Miss Williams had been staying with her great-uncle, Harry Moore, in Willard before she went on the fatal ride.

Attendants at the Wappner Funeral home said hundreds of persons had viewed the bodies of Henry Harfman, James Faugl, and Jesse W. Hamlin, Mansfield victims of the tragedy, since they were returned here early yesterday from Willard.

Funeral services for the trio will be held Monday at the Wappner Funeral home. Services for the Faugl youth will be at 10 a. m., while rites for Mr. Harfman will be at 1 p. m., and services for Mr. Hamlin at 3:30 p. m.

The four young people died almost instantly when a B. and O. locomotive, backing into Willard, struck the car in which they were riding at a crossing on U. S. Route 224 one mile west of New Haven in Huron county.

SUSPECT FARMER SLAIN IN FIELD

Coroner, Deputies Probe Death of Man, Auto Theft.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—An all-night investigation led Coroner E. E. Smith and sheriff's deputies today to express belief that Charles Leroy Reed, a 64-year-old corn cutter on the farm of Supreme Court Judge Edward C. Turner, was slain while trying to prevent theft of his automobile.

Reed's body, a bullet wound in the side, was found in a field beside his corn knife last night by a daughter and neighbor.

There were no powder burns and his automobile was missing.

Mansfield Girl, Unconscious 90 Hours, Still Fights Death

Unconscious for more than 90 hours since last Tuesday evening when she was struck by an auto while crossing the street near her home, six-year-old Patricia Sciarrotta is still fighting death in Mansfield General hospital with but a "slim chance of winning," according to hospital attendants.

The girl was struck as she crossed an intersection at Harker and Springmill streets on the way to a physician's office with a brother, Francis, 10. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sciarrotta, 394 McPherson street.

Patricia, who is a pupil at Bowman street school, suffered a severe brain injury according to physicians, when she was knocked to the pavement by a car police said was driven by John Rupanovic, 6 Kohler avenue. Rupanovic

KNOX WARNS U.S. STANDS AT WAR BRINK

Calls For 'All Measures,' Including Offensive, To Guard Commerce.

HITS NEUTRALITY ACT

Describes Policy of Keeping Ships Out of Trouble Areas 'Failure.'

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Warning that the United States is "on the threshold" of war, Secretary of the Navy Knox called today for repeal of the neutrality laws and asserted that America must take all measures—including the offensive and convoys—to protect its foreign commerce and aid to countries fighting Axis aggression.

"The United States stands today on the threshold of World war No. 2," Knox wrote in the commerce department's foreign commerce weekly. "In this position, which at the will of our avowed enemies may be turned at any moment to belligerency, it is imperative that we take every necessary measure to preserve our foreign commerce and the lives of our merchant seamen from destruction by commerce raiders."

(Editor's note: Both President Roosevelt and Knox have made it plain in recent statements that the navy would resort to whatever measures were necessary to protect shipping this side of Iceland, at least, but this is the first time a cabinet member has advocated convoys so strongly.)

Knox maintained that the neutrality laws are "a continued obstacle in the way of successful aid to those countries upon which our future so much depends."

"Of course," he observed, "if we become an active belligerent in the war, the neutrality act will no longer apply and we would be free to take all steps to aid our friends and protect our commerce in all waters of

RATIONS BREAD

Italy Cuts Consumption Next Week, Taxes Profits.

ROME—(AP)—Italy's bread was ordered rationed today, starting next Wednesday, and a group of measures was approved by the cabinet to conserve material, defend the lira and pay for the war through heavy taxation of profits.

The rationing was announced after Premier Mussolini informed the cabinet that the 1941 grain crop was insufficient for the country's needs.

Most of the measures revised and reinforced previous decrees.

The basic daily bread ration was fixed at 200 grams, about six and one-half ounces, with ordinary workers allowed 300 grams or about 10 ounces, and workers at heavy tasks 400 grams or about 13 ounces.

A uniform 20 per cent tax on profits from the sale of business securities listed on stock exchanges was substituted for a previous scale running up to 50 per cent.

'WATCHDOG' HURT

Ohio Treasury Guardian Reported In Fair Condition.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Arnett Harbage, "watchdog" of the state treasury, was reported in only fair condition today at White Cross hospital where he was taken with a severe skull fracture.

Harbage was injured while drilling wheat on his West Jefferson farm yesterday.

Missing for 18 hours after he had disappeared, supposedly in the company of a strange woman who was thought to have kidnaped him, David McElwain, 4, was found by Pasadena, Cal., police in a Y. W. C. A. building with the woman. The boy is the son of an aircraft worker.

U. S. Set to Purchase Peru, Bolivia Metals

Expected Agreement Will Cover Buying of Copper, Lead, Zinc and Tungsten From South American Nations.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Representing the forging of two more links in the economic blockade of the Axis powers, the United States government, it was learned on high authority today, is about to conclude new agreements with Peru and Bolivia for the purchase of additional surplus metal products from them.

In the case of Peru, this government plans to buy up the surplus supplies of vanadium ore, copper, lead and zinc. Peru is one of the chief sources of supply for vanadium, a rare, silver-white metallic element which is extremely useful as a steel alloy.

The proposed agreement with Bolivia will cover that country's surplus supplies of zinc. An agreement has been reached with Bolivia which gives the United States virtual control of that country's surplus supplies of tin, and a three-year monopoly on its tungsten output.

Large supplies of Bolivian tin are now stored up at Arica, Chile, awaiting shipment to a Texas refinery. Bolivia is the world's second largest producer of this ancient metal. Until recently, nearly three-fourths of Bolivia's tin ore went to England for refining.

The agreements with Peru and Bolivia are in line with the American government's plan to buy up all the surplus products of Latin American which might be valuable, now or in the future, to the Axis powers as potential war supplies.

AMES INDICTED

Former President of Bank At Berea Cited For Embezzlement.

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A federal grand jury announcement today revealed that William H. Ames, former president of the Commercial Savings bank of Berea, has been indicted on charges of embezzling $3,000 from escrow accounts.

Ames resigned the bank presidency last January. Jerome N. Curtis, assistant U. S. attorney, said the peculations occurred over a period of three or four years and included the making of false entries in the bank's books.

MEET TONIGHT

Civic Organizations Discuss Unemployment Threat.

Problems resulting from defense industry dislocation in Mansfield manufacturing plants will be discussed today at 7 p. m. in Delano lodge at a meeting called by the Richland county industrial union council.

Gathering representatives from Mansfield manufacturers, labor unions and federal and municipal governments, the meeting will have as a speaker Darrell Smith, special labor adviser for the federal Office of Production Management.

Richard Niebur Mansfield CIO field organizer, said officials are hopeful that a plan which will alleviate hardships resulting from the curtailment of civilian industry by the national defense effort will be an outgrowth of the meeting.

British General Reported In USSR as Germans Assert Five Armies Fall.

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(INS)—German planes last night bombed and "heavily damaged" the historic old Kremlin, headquarters of Premier Josef Stalin and other high Soviet officials, in the heart of Moscow, an official announcement said today.

(By International News Service)

Moscow claimed new successes on three great battle fronts today and said that Nazi drives against Leningrad, Moscow and the Crimea have been stemmed.

But a German communique said five entire Russian armies have been destroyed in the "iron ring" east of Kiev, with 665,000 Russians taken prisoner and 885 tanks, 3,817 field guns and "inestimable" quantities of war materials captured or destroyed.

The numbers of Russian dead and wounded were described by the Germans as "extremely high."

Soviet reports said a triple Nazi offensive aimed at Moscow, with four German armies participating, had been halted in the Bryansk region with 20,000 German casualties.

Similarly an attack on Leningrad from three directions was said to have been shattered by Russian troops and a huge civilian army of men and women.

On the Crimean front lines of Soviet fortifications and masses of land mines were credited with holding up a German offensive aimed at the naval base of Sebastopol and at the rich Caucasus.

Stockholm heard a report that Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, British commander-in-chief in India, is organizing a British expeditionary force in Iran for service in south Russia or the Caucasus, but London authorities declared they had no confirmation of this.

An Istanbul dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Demokraten said Wavell is taking up headquarters at Tiflis in the USSR.

Registrations Lag, Indicating Little Election Interest

Mansfielders apparently are showing only passing interest in the approaching municipal campaign with election board registrations down to a mere trickle, board officials said today.

Although the registration deadline is Oct. 6, only 10 days away, the board registered less than a half dozen new voters this week. Transfers also were light, officials said.

To vote in the November election, city residents must be registered with the election board at the courthouse by the evening of Oct. 6, the board warned.

Persons who have moved since the last general election must transfer, or notify the election board of their change of address.

Registration is required of persons who have not voted at the last two general elections, persons who will be 21 by election day, recently naturalized citizens, and new residents of the city.

The board of elections office in the courthouse basement is open from 8 to 11:30 a. m. and from 12:30 to 4 p. m. daily except Saturday. It closes at noon Saturday.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

GEN. JOHNSON: Bets on Own Execution, Wins Cigarets

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — When Secretary of the treasury Morganthau said he thinks profits should be limited to 6 per cent of invested capital, he wasn't reading from his prepared manuscript, which made no such suggestion.

Johnson

Henry ought not to try ad libbing that way. His getting to be the "best secretary of the treasury since Willie Woodin" has been largely due to his choice of some able assistants. Henry, on his own, ain't any too smart. His 6 per cent recommendation was either very vicious or very ignorant. In these troubled times it is more charitable to say "very ignorant."

Invested capital is not the important thing to look at in examining the performance of any enterprise. Proof of that is that no financial expert on securities looks first at the balance sheet of a company in question. It looks first at its income statement to learn what it earns, not in percentage of invested capital, but on each share of stock.

In many cases (as in non-par common stock) that has nothing whatever to do with invested capital—which usually means largely bricks, mortar and machinery and which isn't worth a tinker's dam if it can't earn and is in that case a liability rather than an asset.

Furthermore, some companies, railroads for example are heavily over-capitalized, burdened with some "assets" which are just dead horses—unburied corpses of dead mistakes. Six per cent on their "invested capital" would be bonanza for them. At the other end of the list are companies which depend almost entirely on goodwill and skill which can't properly be written in their "invested capital."

Consider a great law firm, its "invested capital" is in a snag of books and a group of offices, sometimes sumptuous, but even this is unnecessary if it is getting results. Its "invested capital" is negligible. If it had to be restricted to 6 per cent on that, its whole value is gone.

Think about chewing gum companies. Lots of their factories are marvels of efficiency, but their value lies in the intangibles of public preference and confidence. A good deal of this is true about newspapers and magazines.

There is another vital point. Most old and long established industrial companies, the "economic empires" and "potential monopolies" have very large "invested capital" relatively unburdened with debt. Most new and up-and-coming little fellows have much larger proportions of debt. Six per cent isn't so bad for the big guy. It is poison and bankruptcy to the little one. He can't get out of debt at 6 per cent.

The real murderous bearing of this Morganthau suggestion is not on the companies at all. They are mostly corporations — artificial persons. The real bearing is on the man in the street who has brought a few shares of common stock in this or that company—not for speculation but for investment. He did that on the universal rule of market prices, not on the tricky and inapplicable rule of "return on invested capital," but on the long established principles of "earnings per share."

Perhaps unconsciously, but nevertheless effectively, almost every recent policy, headlong priorities, proposed piece-meal price legislation and now this 6 per cent nonsense has tended toward an alarming increase of monopoly and destruction of small enterprise in the United States. Is it the intention to corral private property into big pieces because it is easier thus to absorb it into the equivalent of government ownership?

SEEK TO MAKE OHIO FARMERS AWARE OF WAR

Defense Board Members Push Quality, Production of 'Food For Democracies.'

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — The Ohio agricultural defense board today pushed plans to "make the people of this middle west conscious that a war is going on" as a part of the program of the department of agriculture to provide more "food for freedom."

"This food-for-the-democracies program which calls for greater production of dairy products, eggs and vegetables is the first order of business with the department of agriculture," Elmer F. Kruse, chairman of the board and state chairman of the agricultural adjustment administration, said at the first meeting of the board yesterday.

"As a result," he added, "some things will have to wait until we have taken this program into the home of every Ohio farmer."

A. L. Sorenson, representative of the farm security administration on the board, said that the organization would have to convince farmers of the great need of increased qualities of specified foods.

"We've got to go out and make the people of this middle west conscious that a war is going on," he said.

The board called a statewide meeting for Oct. 3 of representatives of federal and state farm agencies, farm co-operative leaders and representatives of farm organizations. Delegates to the meeting will discuss farm production goals set at a recent meeting of midwestern farmers in Chicago.

The U. S. department of agriculture has requested the 220,000 farmers in Ohio to produce approximately 15 per cent more of designated foods next year than were grown this year. The department has asked that in 1942 Ohio produce 426,000,000 (M) pounds of milk; 14,000,000 dozens of eggs; 45,000,000 pounds of hogs; 50,000,000 pounds or more of beef and veal; 120,000 acres of soybeans; and cultivate 30,000 or more farm gardens.

SLAYER OF 4 SAYS 'I TOLD YOU I'D BURN'

Boastfully Confesses Week-End Crime Spree, Whispers 'I'm Nuts, I'm Nuts.'

(By United Press)

CHICAGO — Bernard (Knifey) Sawicki, 19-year-old slayer of four in a week-end crime spree, won a package of cigarets because a jury found him guilty of murder and sentenced him to die in the electric chair.

The unruffled youth, who said he "never expected to be 21 anyway" and that killing was "as easy as eating ice cream cones," turned to Baliff Joe Lelivelt in criminal court last night when the jury returned its verdict.

"I told you, I'd burn," he said. "You lose. Give me the package of cigarets."

The jury of seven men and four women deliberated only one hour and 10 minutes before voting the death penalty on the fifth ballot. They convicted him for the murder of Policeman Charles Speaker last June 29.

A short time before, the jurors had heard Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, state alienist appearing as a prosecution witness, testify that Sawicki was legally sane but a "moral imbecile." He said Illinois law distinguished between "mental imbeciles" and "moral imbeciles" and that "moral imbeciles" were considered sane.

Although he had insisted he was sane before the trial, the youth commented in a stage whisper during final arguments before the jury: "I'm nuts, I'm nuts, but I think they'll roast me."

Public Defender Morton Anderson appealed to the jury to remember the testimony of Sawicki's foster mother, Mrs. Anna Sawicki, who had testified in Polish through an interpreter. She had told that the boy was a foundling, left on the doorstep of her former home at Hart, Mich., when he was three days old.

"He's insane," she screamed. "He's always been insane."

Speaker was slain when he came on the youth attempting to rob a couple last June. Sawicki also boastfully confessed killing Henry Allain, 72, Momence, Ill., farmer, whom he called a "squealer who got me sent back to St. Charles" (the reform school); Charles Kwasinki, 17, whom he called a "rat" for refusing to join a holdup venture, and John Miller, 19, who had resisted a holdup attempt.

Up and Down THE STREET

A lot of pictures have been taken at Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm and tomorrow there will be a great number more snapped when members of the Mansfield Photographic society go to the farm on a picture hunt. The members are to meet at 1 p. m. at Third and Mulberry streets and proceed to the farm in a body. "We'll take pictures of just about everything we can find," Giles Hamilton, president, said.

Mansfielders who like to wander through the hills looking for walnuts and hickory nuts are going to have good hunting this fall in Richland county. There is a big crop this year and after the heavy windstorm Thursday the ground under the trees was covered with them. Nut-hunting improves, however, after one or two heavy frosts and the "harvest season" is expected to be at its best early in October. While they are not edible, buckeyes are easily found this year too. Trees in Mansfield are loaded down with them.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

You Can't Print That!

(A compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If you find in them any resemblance to actual persons, living or dead—you've probably guessed right!)

FIFTEEN years ago, Pete was one of the biggest bootleggers around town. He was in with the big combination, and he had plenty of the old moo, as they used to put it. His pockets fairly dripped with G-notes, and he ate, drank and wore the best and the most expensive.

Kilgallen

In the trade he enjoyed an enviable reputation and there wasn't a more popular guy in Guinan's or the Silver Slipper. But he wasn't satisfied. Pete had a social complex, which is almost as bad for a racket guy as it is for a prize fighter. He wanted to know the best people. He wanted to see what those big houses on upper Fifth Avenue looked like from the inside.

So he spent a fortune buying drinks for free-loading socialites, he gave them race track tips, he did everything to worm his way into the blue blood set. But no dice. Pete wasn't their type and finally even he realized it.

He had a young nephew, Al who was a musical genius, so Pete turned his energies to making something of the boy. He planned, through him, to realize his heart's desire: to meet the swells.

Al went to Europe, studied piano with all the best teachers, and returned to organize a band, with Pete's money. Al was a good-looking kid, and he played the piano like a combination of Oscar Levant and Fats Waller, so it wasn't long before his orchestra was playing in all the best bistros and he was meeting all the names in the Social Register.

And what's more, he was getting invited to all their homes, so he could play the piano at their parties. When he went he took Pete along, and the uncle was happy-really happy—for the first time in his life. Al's Park Avenue pals thought Pete was a quaint old character, and accepted him.

But it was too good to last. Al was a little too popular, and it wasn't long before those two old fifth columnists, liquor and girls, were cutting him down. Pretty soon Al was, to put it frankly, nothing but a bum, with no more band, and no more swell friends.

And at about the same time, Mr. Whiskers repealed the dry law, and in no time at all, Uncle Pete was broke, too. They just dropped away from the Broadway scene, as people do, and nobody knew, or cared, what became of them, because that's how Broadway is. There's always somebody to take the place of anybody who disappears.

If anyone's interested, they're still together. One of the old mob saw them last week, and they're still at their old trades, selling liquor and playing the piano. Pete runs a tawdry little joint down near Trenton, and Al, who's always drunk now, pounds out corny music for the customers and talks about the old days that will never come back.

But you can't print that. Old Pete still has his pride. It's a strange, twisted, unhappy kind of pride, but let him keep it. He hasn't got anything else.

RITES SET

Woman Slain In West Leaves Will Asking Ohio Burial.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Funeral services were scheduled today for Mrs. Florence Stricker, former Findlay, O., resident who was found bludgeoned to death in her home two weeks ago.

In a will which bequeathed half of a $10,000 estate to her husband, Dr. George Stricker, Mrs. Stricker requested that her body be returned to Findlay for burial. Authorities are seeking the slain woman's assailant.

ADMITS SLUGGING GIRL

LIMA—(INS)—Edward Hile, 36, pleaded guilty to slugging 17-year-old Joan Singer with a hammer when arraigned in municipal court and was held for the Allen county grand jury in $10,000 bond.

MAYOR SUCCUMBS

MARTINS FERRY—(INS)—Dr. Joseph M. Hunter, 58, mayor of nearby Rayland since the village was incorporated two years ago, died following an illness of two weeks.

SAILOR SLAIN

Authorities Seek Motive In Eastern Slaying.

READING, Mass — (INS) — With the skull crushed, apparently by a heavy blow during a fight, the body of boatswain's mate, second class, Sie H. Kuchera, United States navy, of Rushville, Neb., today was studied by Medical Examiner Roscoe D. Perley as local, state and naval officials opened an investigation into the slaying.

Kuchera's body was found in a clump of bushes in the Sanborn Hill section.

Only 18 cents was found in his pockets, giving rise to the theory he was killed when he attempted to resist a robbery.

Police of Three States In Chase; Ex-Convict Cited

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Charges of armed robbery and shooting to kill a noted detective were filed against a 36-year-old ex-convict today by the safety patrolman who surprised the man in the act of holding up a downtown shoe store and helped capture him after gunplay which wounded four persons.

Meanwhile police of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky started a hunt for an escaped accomplice in the $41 hold-up but the only clues available were those given by the man in custody.

Detective Chief Emmett D. Kirgan identified the man as Fred Borchers, 36, of Covington, Ky. Patrolman Harry Smith, who had dropped into the store yesterday evening to chat with clerks and found the robbery under way, filed the charges in specific connection with the wounding of Ora M. Sh er, 65, nationally known private detective who "broke" the bathtub slaying of Mrs. Frances Nesbitt at Troy, O., in 1926, and helped in the investigation of the slaying of Don Mellett, Canton, O., editor, in 1925.

Also wounded in the two-block pursuit of Borchers through supper-hour throngs on Walnut and Sixth streets yesterday were Edward Stoeckel, 31, a mailman; Miss Betty Jane Mullen, 18, a student nurse; and Mrs. Joseph Davidson, 33.

KILLED BY TRUCK

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Seventy-five-year-old Alfred Knight died today of injuries received when he was struck by a truck last night as he attempted to cross a street. Police said the truck was driven by John Korzenborn.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The state treasurer's office reported today that its sales of prepaid sales tax stamps dropped off in the week ended Sept. 13 to the lowest figure in six months. The revenue amounted to $1,063,854.

HITS POLICY OF PAROLE BOARD

Hamilton County Prosecutor Says Hearing Set Without Providing Facts.

CINCINNATI — (U.P.) — Policy of the Ohio parole board was questioned today by Prosecutor Carl W. Rich of Hamilton county who charged that an Ohio penitentiary prisoner was to be given a hearing before the proper forms stating the facts in the case were filled out.

Rich claimed that Harry Schram, 50, of Dayton, who was sentenced to five years in the penitiary last Friday on a charge of taking indecent liberties with two small girls, had been assigned a parole hearing in November.

The prosecutor said that D. J. Bonzo, parole and record clerk at the prison, notified him of the hearing on Tuesday, the day that Schram entered the institution.

Rich said he was "greatly shocked" by the parole notice, and puzzled by a letter received from Bonzo which stated that Schram had been convicted of indecent exposure with an indeterminate sentence of 0 to 10 years.

He declared that Schram's crime carried a penalty of four to 10 years, but that Judge Frederick L. Hoffman had the right to fix a minimum sentence of five years. Judge Hoffman had denied the prisoner's request for "consideration," asserting that Schram was guilty of a reprehensible crime.

Rich said that he had never heard of a sentence of from 0 to 10 years as listed by Bonzo.

P. L. NULL DIES IN BALTIMORE

Was Storm Center In Dispute At Sandusky Veterans' Home.

BALTIMORE, Md.—(AP)—Perry L. Null, commandant of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors home at Sandusky, O., from 1921 to 1936, died yesterday in Johns Hopkins hospital. He was 63 years old.

SANDUSKY — (AP) — Perry L. Null, who died yesterday in Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, Md., was the center of a stormy controversy that ended with his discharge in 1936 as commandant of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' home here.

Mrs. Margaret Allman, state welfare director under former Democratic Gov. Martin L. Davey, filed six charges against Null on April 25, 1936, and removed him from office he had held since 1921.

LOST PILOT FLIES TO GAME, LANDS PLANE IN PARKING LOT

STOCKTON, Calif.—(U.P.)—Army air corps officers today faced the problem of what to do with Cadet Vinson Wieser of Hamilton, Tex.

The 23-year-old student pilot became lost while on a night cross-country training flight. He couldn't find his way back to Sacramento and was led instead to Stockton Junior college football field where Stockton was playing San Bernardino college.

He dived and looped and wiggled his wings over the football field. The 4,000 spectators were fascinated by his acrobatics but the football players were intent on their game and did not clear the field. He swooped low over the stadium and in doing so clipped the chimney of a nearby home with his landing gear and tore through the power line furnishing lights to the field.

"I didn't want to bail out," he said later. "The government needs the planes."

He didn't have any choice then, anyway. His motor sputtered and coughed. His fuel was gone. So he hedgehopped the plane a few more yards, spotted the block-long parking lot, and brought his ship down on its driveway.

He stopped on a dime, 10 feet from the nearest car and 20 feet from a loaded bus. No one was injured.

START DELAYED

More Students Needed For Defense Classes Here.

Opening of classes in the second in a series of advanced engineering courses, being sponsored by the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce as an aid to national defense, has been postponed from Sept. 29 to Oct. 6, John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the chamber, said today.

Routzon said he had been informed by Ohio State university officials, aiding in setting up the defense courses, that additional applications and another instructor would be needed before the school could start.

Employes in Mansfield plants and retail stores are eligible to enroll for the courses which will include engineering drawing, tool engineering, management fundamentals and steel and cast iron inspection.

The commerce secretary urged all employes interested in taking industrial courses to contact their employers or the chamber office for further information.

DISMISS APPEAL

Appellate Court Turns Down Plea of Disbarred Woman Lawyer.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The district appellate court dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, who gained statewide notice in the famed "hot mix" road contract suits, from the action of six Franklin county common pleas judges who disbarred her for life.

The judges acted after she was accused of embezzling $10,800 from a guardianship trust.

Taft Calls For Cut In Defense, Lease-Lend Costs

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(AP)—Careful scrutiny of lease-lend appropriations and a "substantial reduction" in defense expenditures are urged by Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio).

"There is no doubt that a vast amount of waste has occurred, and an intelligent control of purse-strings can reduce the cost of the vast defense program without reducing in the least its effectiveness," Taft told a meeting of the Pennsylvania savings and loan league last night.

Discussing inflation dangers, the senator asserted defense spending compelled some form of temporary price-fixing, adding, however, that "up to date, the price-fixing program has been a kind of legal blackmail.

"Certainly, legislation of some kind is preferable to the present confused and illegal program," he declared.

There'll Be No Chimes When Jury Visits Cemeteries

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A federal court jury, selected to try 37 men on charges of conspiracy and using the mails to defraud in the sale of cemetery lots, will visit burial grounds involved in the case next week.

U. S. Judge Robert R. Nevin, acting on a request by U. S. District Attorney Calvin Crawford, said the purpose of the trips was "simply to view the premises," adding that "no chimes or organs shall be played."

"It is not necessary * * * to go out and see a burial. Testimony will show that a hole can be dug in the ground and that equipment is available for lowering a casket," he asserted.

The district attorney had informed the judge that some "display or show" might be presented for the benefit of jurors and asked that counsel be instructed against it.

The jurors will visit Forest Glen cemetery at Marion, O., Monday, and go to Glen Rest, near Columbus, and Glen Haven at Springfield Tuesday.

Opening statements are scheduled Wednesday.

FDR PROMISES SHIP GUARDING

President Lashes Fear During Talk at Mass Launching Of 14 Vessels.

Chester, Pa., yards of the Sun Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. It later will be reproduced for similar gatherings at shipyards on both coasts and the gulf.

The president recalled that the growth and prosperity of the nation had been heavily dependent on high-seas commerce and general freedom of the seas, and described the current shipbuilding program of the navy, as well as the maritime commission, as "one of our answers to the aggressors who would strike at our liberty."

With every new ship, he added, shipworkers of America are "striking a telling blow at the menace to our nation and the liberty of the free peoples of the world."

Mr. Roosevelt called particular attention to launching of the S. S. Patrick Henry, the first of the liberty fleet to come off the ways, at Baltimore at 12:30 p. m.

Launching of the Patrick Henry at the Bethlehem-Fairfield shipyard will highlight the day's ceremonies, Mrs. Henry A. Wallace, wife of the vice president, will christen the vessel, and Chairman Emory S. Land of the maritime commission will be the principal speaker.

In an address prepared for delivery, Land complimented the Baltimore workers, then called for "more speed and, still more speed" in construction of the "ridge of ships" for movement of war materials to opponents of the Axis powers.

The Liberty fleet vessels are designed to achieve a minimum cost, rapidity of construction and simplicity of operation. Each ship is 441 feet long, can make 11 knots and is capable of carrying 9,146 tons of general cargo. Keels for 11 others already have been laid and the 12th will be started today.

The last launching of the day will be at 8:30 p. m. (EST) when the Ocean Venture, a freighter built for the British, comes off the ways in the Richmond, Calif., yards of the Todd-California Shipbuilding Co. Another British vessel, the Ocean Voice, was to be launched at the Todd yards at noon.

New Officers to Be Installed.

At St. Matthew's Lutheran church Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor, will speak on the subject, "A Bunch of Sweet Peas" at 10:30 a. m. The service will be dedicated to the Sunday school, whose newly elected officers will be installed.

Gonoud's "Jerusalem Oh Turn Thee" will be sung by the choir, and a solo will be sung by Marjorie Dise.

Luther league will meet in the church parlors at 6:45 p. m. The Martin Luther class will meet Tuesday and the Church council on Thursday evening.

Gives Fourth In Sermon Series.

Rev. C. A. Portz, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, will preach the fourth of a series of sermons on parish education tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., taking as his topic, "Worthless Branches."

For its offertory anthem the choir will sing "Be Thou Faithful" by Engel.

Annual promotion of Bible school pupils, and election of Sunday school officers will be held during the Sunday school hour.

Choir rehearsal will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Talks on Topic, 'Power to Endure'

Rev. Peter Young, pastor of the First Congregational church, will preach on "The Power to Endure" tomorrow.

"My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" (Saint Saens), and "Saceur Choer In C" (Chauvet), will be played on the organ by Mrs. Fred Lewis.

Geraldine Harley will sing "Jesu, Jesu, Miserere," (Nevin), and the treble choir will sing "List the Cherubic Host" (Gaul).

The Pilgrim fellowship will hold its first fall meeting at 6:30 p. m. The Women's association will hold a luncheon meeting at 1 p. m. Thursday in the church parlors, at which Adjutant Paul Hoffman of the Salvation Army will be the guest speaker.

Baptismal Service To Be Held Sunday

A children's baptismal service will highlight the program at St. Paul Lutheran church tomorrow at 10 a. m., with Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor, speaking on the topic, "The Way to Great Strength."

Reports from the recent state missionary convention at Springfield will be given by Mrs. M. W. Wappner, at 2 p. m. Wednesday during a meeting of the Women's Missionary society.

CITY'S PASTORS CHURCHES PLAN FOR COMMUNION

Special Programs Are Being Arranged For Observances In City Oct. 5.

Mansfield pastors and their congregations are rapidly completing plans for their part in the world-wide observance of Communion on Oct. 5.

Sponsored by the department of evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches, this day will be observed throughout Christendom.

Rev. Roland L. Showalter, secretary of the Richland County Ministerial association, said that to date, 16 Mansfield churches have made plans for special programs on that day.

Four-Hour Youth Rally to Be Held.

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First English Lutheran church, will speak on "The Compassion of Jesus" tomorrow at 9:45 a. m.

A four-hour youth rally will be held tomorrow at 4:30 p. m., sponsored by the Luther league of the church. Starting with a "mixer" followed by a supper-lunch and a fellowship hour, Luther leaguers will present "snapshots" or brief talks on the Luther league, with its purpose projects, and functions.

Evening vespers will be conducted entirely by Luther leaguers with Lois Phifer reading the psalm, Naomi Linsenmayer reading the scripture and Luther league President Russell McCullough presenting the organization to the congregation.

Wayne Siegfried will give a talk based on the Luther league's theme for the year: "Always Christ's Way."

Meetings for the week include: The Earnest Workers, 2 p. m. Monday at the Parish house; the Fifth district, 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Parish house; and the Women's Missionary society at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Pastor Milton Johnson will speak on the subject "Around the Lord's Table" after a Communion service at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

'When Victory Comes' Topic of Sermon.

"When Victory Comes" will be Rev. R. L. Showalter's sermon topic at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow in the Church of the Brethren.

Promotion certificates will be presented to 29 children of the church school at this service.

Under the direction of the pastor, Rev. R. L. Showalter, the Confirmation class will meet at 7 p. m. Wednesday. Senior choir practice will follow at 7:30 p. m., and Junior choir practice at 8 p. m.

The third annual "Family Night" program will be held at 8 p. m. Friday in the Church of the Brethren in Lincoln Heights. Highlights will be a series of pictures of this church in the northeast Ohio district, with narration by Rev. W. A. Petry of Akron. Refreshments will be served by the adult classes of the school.

Visitation Day to Be Held Sunday

The First Christian church will observe tomorrow as Visitation day when 180 members will call on the people of the church in teams of two from 2 to 3:30 p. m. in preparation for World-wide Communion Sunday, Oct. 5.

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor, will preach on the theme "Things That Cannot Be Shaken!" The choir will sing "The Lord Reigneth" by Williams, and Mrs. H. H. Clingan will play "LeDeluge" (Saint Saens) and "Ecstasy" by Cummings.

The young people will leave the church at 3:30 p. m. for a picnic at the Harold Tingley farm.

Joseph Wilcox was recently chosen as one of five people from Ohio to represent the church at a conference of young adults to be held at Lake Geneva, Wis., next summer.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1941

Drive carefully tomorrow—and be on the lookout for drivers who haven't as much sense as you have.

There is talk of a new political party in 1944—but it would take more than one to satisfy all the differences of opinion.

Psychologists claim that the peak of mental power is reached at 11 a. m.—which leaves only a little while before it is time to go to lunch.

Those Unguarded Grade Crossings

TRAFFIC accidents which result in only one or two deaths have become so common, here and elsewhere, that they attract no more than passing notice—except in the immediate families and among friends and acquaintances of the victims.

This is attested by the nonchalance with which the public accepts the fact that Richland county's record of traffic deaths thus far in 1941 stands at 20 as compared to 11 for the same period last year.

But people have not yet become hardened to the horror of four young lives being snuffed out in one accident, such as that which occurred Thursday night between New Haven and Willard, when three Mansfield young men and a Shiloh girl were killed when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a train at an unguarded grade crossing.

While it may be said that such accidents are "unavoidable" as long as some railroad grade crossings are unprotected by warning signals, knowledge of the existence of these hazardous spots should result in all motorists exercising caution while driving on unfamiliar roads, especially after night, and being constantly on the alert for possible danger.

The speed at which many motorists are accustomed to driving, coupled with an inclination to become so absorbed in conversation that little attention is paid to the road ahead, accounts for a considerable number of accidents which must be classed as avoidable.

When parents, and others, are considering the dangers of war it will also be well for them to think seriously of the dangers of peace—high among which is operation of a motor vehicle . . . which causes around 35,000 deaths and injures almost a million persons each year in the United States.

Morgenthau's Profit Philosophy

HOLDING the important post of secretary of the treasury, the views of Henry Morgenthau, jr., on matters about which he knows nothing may carry more weight than they deserve.

Recently, for instance, he told the house banking committee that it was his "personal philosophy" that all corporations in this country should be satisfied if they could earn six per cent on their invested capital—and that everything over six per cent should go to the government during the emergency.

Highly illuminating associated statements by Mr. Morgenthau were expressions of belief that "it would be undemocratic to put a ceiling on wages," but that there should be federal control of farm prices.

While an assured six per cent on invested capital may seem ample to Mr. Morgenthau, unfamiliar as he is with the hazards of business and industrial operation, it seems quite unlikely than any except the most ardent of his New Deal associates will be seriously impressed with the practicability of his proposal.

The high percentage of failures in business enterprises which gave early promise of success, the risks involved in business investments and the likelihood of loss instead of profit, argue strongly against hamstringing individual and group initiative and enterprise by any such limitation, which would practically require government guarantee of profit instead of loss on all business operations in order to attract capital investment.

Despite the fact that this administration has thrown many obstacles in the path of private business, with government competition established in many fields, there has thus far been at least passive recognition of the profit motive as a legitimate incentive toward capital investment, encouragement of inventive genius and development of managerial ability.

There are, of course, unscrupulous and greedy operators of business who are not above profiteering whenever opportunity appears—as has been the case with some of the government contracts now being scrutinized, and it may be such things as these that influenced Mr. Morgenthau's "personal philosophy" more than any knowledge he may think he has about business operations in general.

If the future of this country is to depend on the decisions of such White House favorites as Henry A. Wallace, Harry Hopkins, Henry Morgenthau, jr., Madame Perkins, and some of the other New Deal theorists who have been placed in positions of large responsibility, the present national emergency is even graver than it has been made by threat of war.

Enlistment vs. Conscription

MILITARY conscription seems to be justifying itself not only by our own experience but by Canada's. The Dominion's policy, so far, is voluntary enlistment. It was regarded as democratic to let the men themselves decide whether they would join the army. But the plan has worked out oddly.

Americans who talk to the Canadian soldiers, whom they meet frequently on vacation and business trips, report growing dissatisfaction among the recruits. "Sure, we didn't have to enlist," they say. "We did it ourselves. Maybe because we wanted a little army life and a bit of travel and adventure. Maybe because we thought we ought to—for the country, you know. But now when you see fellows who were too lazy to do it, or hadn't the nerve, taking our good jobs and swelling around, it gripes us.

"No, it isn't right. It isn't fair. Your plan is better in the states. You treat 'em all alike, rich or poor, active or lazy, patriotic or unpatriotic. And why not? If one man's vote is as good as another's in a free country, one man's life or his stake in life is as good as another's. It's a case for national team work. It's sportsmanship. It's the democratic way."

So Canada will soon have conscription, and Canadians may then be better satisfied.

Taking a second look, it seems to be higher taxes—instead of prosperity—that is just around the corner.

There may be some hope for the world, after all; strong men here and there are smoking big, black cigars again.

The Chinese would also prefer peace.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—On a recent one-nighter Artie Shaw went out to the Empire ballroom at Allentown, Pa. . . . It was a hot night, about 97. . . . There were thousands of rug-cutters on hand. . . . Finally Artie went back behind the bandstand to a large open window to get a bit of fresh air. On the sidewalk next to the window stood a young fellow who said, "You're Shaw, aren't you? How about your autograph?"

Artie gave it to him. . . . "Why aren't you inside?" he wanted to know.

"Frankly," he was told, "I haven't got the buck and a quarter."

Shaw looked at him a moment. He reached his hand into his pocket and drew out the required amount. "Come on in, on me."

"I couldn't do that." The youth was embarrassed.

"Don't worry," said Shaw, "sixty per cent of it comes back to me anyway. Come on in."

And he did.

IT WAS interesting to see Phil Baker after fifteen years' absence from the night clubs. He came back with Harry Richman to the Riviera, and he forgot some of his lines, though none minded—except Phil. Later he said, "I wasn't nervous. Not a bit. But I forgot half the things I wanted to do."

Fifteen years is a long time. I asked him if it had really been that long since he had indulged in the old trade of making night club customers laugh.

"Yep," he said, "this is the first night club I've worked in since the old Ziegfeld Roof days, when you could get a real nice dinner for an annuity and a half."

In his new duties Phil employs a bit geography and a note of patriotism. He sings a little song that asks the question, "What are we going to defend?" Then he starts in with Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and names all the 48 states. . . . That's where Phil got a little mixed up. He named Ohio three times and forgot Nevada. . . . You try naming the 48 states, right fast, and see how far you get. . . . When Phil names the last state he pauses, then sings, "That's what we're going to defend." The welcome they gave him must have made him feel very, very good.

IT MUST be a fine feeling that John O-Steen of Kinston, North Carolina and Elaine L. Berg, of Grand Forks, North Dakota, have these days. And for it they can thank Kay Kyser.

Some months ago the old professor founded two scholarships, one in music and the other in dramatic arts, at his alma mater, the University of North Carolina. . . . The other day the first winners were announced. Mr. O-Steen gets the scholarship in music. . . . Miss Berg gets the scholarship in dramatic art. . . . All expenses paid. Three guesses who Miss Berg's and Mr. O-Steen's favorite orchestra leader is going to be from now on—and the first two don't count.

Expect Biggest Pork Barrel Bills

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Just as the new excise taxes—forerunner of the heavier income taxes—begin to bite on October 1 congress will be pushing through one of the biggest pork barrel bills in the nation's history. Pork barrel it will be in the most vicious sense of the old expression.

"I'll vote for your pork if you vote for mine," is what it virtually makes individual members of congress say to one another. One could substitute "graft" for "pork," though of course there is no thought of individual graft. The "pork," or "graft" is merely federal money to be spent in the districts and states of the individual legislators.

Just another manifestation of the old political doctrine that the congressman who brings home the bacon—the one who is able to pry federal money loose for expenditure in the territory of his own constituents—is the one who gets re-elected.

RATHER a silly notion, one would think, in a time when our people are about to be taxed to the bone to provide for war expenditures, and even sillier when one thinks of most of these pork barrel projects as useless waste, not only of federal funds but of labor. And all this at a time when the government is clamoring for more defense materials than present capacity can produce, and urging sub-contracting in any community which can do the work!

One project in the pork barrel stands out like a sore thumb. It is the old St. Lawrence Seaway, now neatly dressed up with a national defense uniform hastily knitted by every lieutenant President Roosevelt could persuade to wield a needle.

Eventual cost, according to experts who are not trying to sell a bill of goods, will be more than one billion dollars. Transportation men, in railroad and shipping fields, always have regarded it as cock-eyed economically—on a par with the Alaskan railroad on which the Wilson administration spent $50,000,000, and which has run a deficit of a million dollars a year ever since, without developing its territory.

But the navy department has just given that seaway project a blow which, were it not for administration pressure and pork barrel grease, might well strip off that national defense uniform. For the navy has proudly advertised its own answer to the Battle of the Atlantic. The navy believes that the bridge of ships should be small, light draft vessels which can be built on a mass production basis, powered by big gasoline engines.

NOT only could the new type of vessels the navy is so enthusiastic about be produced rapidly, and cheaply, but the boats would fit in beautifully with the "patroled lane" plan of Secretary of the Navy Knox, and likely to supplant the convoy system in the near future.

But the interesting feature of this new ship is that it can be built in Great Lakes yards and floated out through EXISTING waterways! It is of light enough draft, and small enough dimensions, to sail out via the Welland Canal or down the Mississippi.

In short, for inland ship yards to build the type of ships which the navy has designed as the answer to Adolph Hitler's menace in the Battle of the Atlantic, and to the problem of keeping Britain—and Russia—supplied, it is not necessary to wait for the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Which would seem to be rather important, inasmuch as everyone knows ships would not actually go up the St. Lawrence during the present emergency. They do not even go to Montreal—can't spare the time. They use Halifax.

But pork is slippery!

Listen World!

Campus Pigtails

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

ACCORDING to our markedly apathetic fashion authorities, Campus Honeys will be wearing pigtails this year! Also, scuffy shoes, tomboy sweaters, mackinaws—swiped from the Boy Friend—and Stevedore Appetites. Which news I welcome with gulps of glee.

At last you're getting somewhere, youngsters. You may not keep it up; it's a thousand-to-one shot you won't. But at least you're giving yourself and your adoring audience—the great American Public—a chance to glimpse the Sweetest Show on Earth.

THE AMERICAN GIRL, AS IS . . . WITHOUT SYNTHETIC SCENIC AND SOUND EFFECTS.

If there has ever been a prettier item of merchandise on any market than the 1941 lass, I've yet to see it. And this includes all previous models—clear back to great-great-gramma, complete with corsets . . . crinoline . . . six petticoats . . . circus-top panties with starched ruffles . . . even more violently starched and ruffled corset covers . . . three-inch "chokers" . . . "buns" . . . "rats," "switches" and other perilous paraphernalia.

I realize that this statement is contrary to popular tradition which hands all medals for health, beauty, charm and intelligence to the Victorian Era belle. But, having been one of those Gibson Girls myself, I'm here to state that such publicity is poisonous hooey—and nothing else but.

Consider, for instance, this matter of health. The Cuties of 1850-1900 probably had less health per square inch of female physiology than any long-suffering female before or since. They broke every hygenic law and raised Cain with anatomic principles from the time they first struggled from their baby buggies. And would have been slapped down—plenty!—by Mama and the Livery Stable Gang if they hadn't.

No member of the human race has ever lugged around more yards of useless dry-goods than they did . . . or manipulated said dry-goods in a more death-defying manner. If Mr. Hitler has any deadlier instruments in his Panzer Divisions than an 1895 corset, the Russians had better quit quick, while the quitting's good.

It was practically impossible for Miss Sophronisba Isabelle Imogene Jones to snicker, sigh, swallow, scratch an intruding flea or given even the most refined, ladylike belch, after becoming enclosed in one of those super dreadnaughts. Then, just in case she was in danger of getting a real lungful of air, she encased her neck in a three-inch, starched, male collar and covered the same with yards and yards of ribbon.

Those were the days of "Galloping Consumption" . . . "Pernicious Anemia" . . . and "Sinking Spells." Female Fragility was practically imperative. If you didn't swoon early and often, you were a drug on the matrimonial market.

I regret to say—but insist on saying—that the effect of such modes on the census bureau was devastating. Blessed Events were not only Unmentionable—but rarely seen after the Eventing. The 19-inch waists saw to that! Pathetic graves of premature infants clustered around the base of every family tree. In a New England cemetery there still exists a tiny tombstone whose epitaph speaks volumes for the countless other victims of feminine fashions. Briefly the tiny ghost wails:

"So soon was I done.
"Why was I begun?"

With the 20th Century, something was bound to bust—and did. First of all, those corset strings. Yet even Equal Suffrage, Coeducation, Jobs for Women and Sam Browne Belts failed to put an end to such cock-eyed carryings-on. Corsets went—but Slit Skirts with Harem Hips slithered in. Knee-length heaps of hair were bobbed—only to be supplanted by bleached, dyed and weirdly waved arrangements, closely resembling a hen in a hurricane.

Fingernails and toenails outrosed the sunrise—with replaceable duplicates to be had, plus glue. And what Honey Child did to her pulchritudinous little puss with the latest line of paint would have knocked Skid Row slapsilly from surprise.

But now, suddenly, the Modern American girl is going natural!

She has realized that her Fantastic Front is quite as silly as Gram's "waterfalls" and "spit curls" . . . that her elaborate pretense of blase sophistication is as phoney as Aunt Deborah's "swoons." So she's going back to those charms no beauty shop can monopolize . . . to the sweet freshness, unhampered strength and happy, tomboy health which outglamour any beauty schedule . . . to soap and water and bodily freedom . . . to fresh air and laughter—and PIGTAILS! And here's wishing I'd had your luck, kid!

You Get What's Paid For.

Capping a half century of radical law-making the New Zealand parliament is now considering a bill to limit doctor's fees to $1.25 per physician's visit. The state is to pay medical fees for the people and the doctor will collect from the government not the patient.

New Zealand will pay the doctor a dollar and a quarter and that means that eventually the doctor's services will be worth no more than one dollar and twenty-five cents. When the present generation of competent doctors are all dead we may be quite sure that the profession will be manned by bargain-counter doctors.

Laws may regulate a doctor but no laws can compel a competent man to become a doctor. We trust that there will be enough horse doctors in New Zealand to take care of the asinine population that must be increasing rapidly under Herbert Spencer's old formula: "The net result of passing laws to protect fools from the consequences of folly is to fill the world with fools."—Chicago News.

Ponder Neutrality Law Revision, Consider Arming Merchant Ships

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

IN 1935 the Italian-Ethiopian war burst into flame, congress passed the first neutrality law, President Roosevelt hailed America's determination to avoid those "perils that will endanger our peace."

In 1939, with the European war smoldering nearer another bonfire, the president uneasily said he feared the arms embargo was more likely to get the U. S. into war than keep it out. Congress, itself uneasy, changed the law to a cash-and-carry proposition. It figured that England could come and get arms and Germany couldn't.

The year 1941 started with the administration contending that convoys meant shooting and shooting meant war. Now, with the national policy set on defeating Adolf Hitler via the lend-lease route, even that slogan is crumbling.

The navy is guarding Britain-bound shipping in Western Hemisphere waters under orders to shoot at Axis sea and air raiders on sight, and during the week Mr. Roosevelt said he might ask that American merchantmen be armed. Administration circles (notably Secretaries Hull and Knox) began talking about how it might be better to toss the neutrality law overboard. There were reports that virtual scrapping of the act would be sought.

Arming of merchant ships would involve repeal of part of the neutrality law. Congressional circles believed repeal of all or part of the act would pass the senate easily but weren't so sure about the house. Rep. Fish (R-NY) said he intended to bring the issue to a head by proposing a declaration of war on Germany.

Quotes

Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States. "I am sure the people of the United States, come what may, will never allow Hitler to achieve his ambition of placing himself in the position of mastering the world."

Herbert H. Lehman, governor of New York: "Those who would sow the seeds of discord between those of different faiths are dangerous enemies, both of religion and democracy. They would tear down the pillars of morality and freedom."

At Home

Two Settlements.

Two important strikes—in the shipping and coal industries—have been settled, but there was trouble during the week in two aircraft factories.

The Seafarers' International Union (AFL) called off its strike against 25 ships tied up in Atlantic and Gulf ports while owners and the National Defense Mediation Board talk over the union's demand for war bonuses. And 44,000 United Mine Workers (CIO) returned to their jobs in "captive" mines, owned by steel companies. The miners had demanded a union shop. The case is to be negotiated.

AFL mechanics at the Consolidated Aircraft plant at San Diego, Calif., voted to strike unless further negotiation gave them a satisfactory scale of increased wages, and an independent union at Curtiss-Wright's two Buffalo, N. Y., plants voted to strike unless the National Labor Relations Board called an election by Monday.

War-Scarred Visitors.

After hush-hushing for months all news of British warships being in American ports for repairs or supplies, the Navy Department made these revelations:

Twelve warships are now in U. S. harbors, including the battleship Warspite (docked at Bremerton, Wash.), and the huge aircraft carriers Illustrious and Formidable (docked at Norfolk, Va.). Twelve other warships had been in U. S. ports but have departed.

Flying Fidler.

Movie columnist Jimmy Fidler flew from Hollywood to Washington to testify before the isolationist-dominated senate sub-committee studying a proposal for a formal investigation of propaganda in the movies.

After testifying, Fidler turned in a bill for $287.54 which included his plane fare. This imperiled the life of the committee. Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), who handles the senate's own purse-strings as head of the audit and control committee, said he might ask the senate to limit to $150 or $250 the sum which could be spent on an investigation such as this one not approved by the senate as a whole.

Arnold's Culprits.

Trust-buster Thurman Arnold of the justice department let loose verbal salvos at both industrialists and labor leaders who are restricting defense production in order to avoid overproduction after the war.

Among the industrialists he included those who fear expansion of production because it may "destroy their domination of industry after the war. . . . They have concealed shortages by over optimistic predictions of supplies."

And he said powerful labor unions have caused holdups and bottlenecks by claiming the right to institute strikes and boycotts "to eliminate small competitors . . . to restrict the use of labor-saving devices . . . to prevent self-employment . . . and to tie up huge industries because of inter-union fueds."

Abroad

Argentina's Nipped Plot.

Whispers swept through the halls of the Argentine Congress that an uprising was imminent. Abruptly, the army occupied all military airports and arrested many young aviation officers. All military planes were grounded.

Dashing, anti-Nazi Raul Damonte Taborda, head of the Congressional committee investigating Nazi activities, said some of those arrested had been plotting to end his investigation. Solemn, Acting President Ramon Castillo said the army had forestalled a "nationalist, radical uprising." Officials began hunting for ammunition missing from airfields.

Ring Around Kiev.

Three short weeks after the Germans invaded Russia their panzers rolled up to the gates of Kiev (pop. 846,000), in the heart of the Ukraine.

The Nazis announced the city was doomed, but for two months they were halted before the city, Russia's third largest.

More than two months passed before the Germans finally snapped their steel ring shut and Russians admitted evacuating Kiev, but several days later reports from Moscow said it was believed stubborn rear-guard fighting had saved a large part of the city's defenders. Reports that Reds were counter-attacking at Glukova and Poltava were interpreted in London to mean that a gap had remained open.

Britons feared Russia's industrial losses would affect her ability to hold off the Nazis.

Nippon Looks North.

More than 80 meat dealers were jailed for selling as beef or pork dog meat that was eaten in some of Japan's most fashionable hotels and restaurants. . . . Officials began collecting used tea leaves for animal fodder. . . . 150 more iron and steel products (from safety razor blades to temple bells) were dropped from manufacture.

Despite these signs of the growing economic pinch, Japanese militarists were reported more cocky than recently. The reason: German victories against the Red Army. Observers said some saw these victories as Japan's green light to strike at Siberia despite the approach of Winter. Sources in Manila said that at least a million Japanese troops had been sent to Manchoukuo in recent weeks and virtually all the horses in Japan.

In Once-Gay Paree.

As more than a dozen Frenchmen were shot as hostages after Germans had been killed or pummeled, the German commander imposed a three-day curfew on Paris. Traffic in the city—whose night life was once Europe's gayest—was forbidden after 9 P. M. In Unoccupied France, Chief of State Petain appealed to Parisians to behave themselves.

People

City Dwellers Called 'Turtles.'

To sociologists the "sophistication" of city dwellers is simply an artificial mental barrier which they call "mental inertia." Dr. Ernest Burgess of the University of Chicago declares that the effect of living too close together is a "subversive" influence on society because people begin acting like turtles.

Because city living is undermining the spirit of the American people, he asserted, people are beginning to move farther and farther away from the big centers of population.

Field and His Fortune.

The descendants of Marshall Field, Chicago department store magnate, possess one of the nation's greatest fortunes. Ferdinand Lundberg in his "America's 60 Families" lists the Field family as No. 14 in affluence. Recently Marshall Field III, merchant and publisher, told the American Public Welfare Association:

"I happen to have been left a great deal of money. I don't know what is going to happen to it, and I don't give a damn. If I can't make myself worthy of three square meals a day, then I don't deserve them."

JOHNSON-CASE VOWS READ LAST EVENING

Rev. Weldon Fulmer, Uncle of Bride, Officiates at Wedding Ceremony Performed at 7:30 P. M. at South Main Street Church.

THE SOFT GLOW of fourteen lighted tapers cast their shadow over a setting of palms, ferns and mixed fall flowers last night in the South Main Street Evangelical church as Miss Kathryn M. Johnson exchanged nuptial vows with Neil Case. Organ music was played during the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Weldon Fulmer, uncle of the bride.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Johnson of South Boulevards, was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal white satin gown made with full sleeves which came to a point over her hands. Her circular fingter-tip veil was attached to a halo of orange blossoms. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and pompons.

Attending the bride were Miss Helen Mae Tomlin, wearing blue faille taffeta and Miss Louise Hasenzahl, attired in pink taffeta. Their gowns were made with full skirts and fitted bodices. Small velvet flowers formed the halo to which their shoulder veils were attached. Pink roses tied with long pink satin ribbon formed their shower bouquets. Wendel Case, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man at the wedding. Ushers were Joseph Au, Robert Bonham and Marion Haas, all of this city.

Miss Geraldine Harley, vocalist, accompanied by the organist, Miss Pauline Statler, sang "L'Amour Toujour" by Frml and "Because" by O'Hardelot while the guests were being seated. Preceding the veremony Miss Statler played "At Dawning" by Cadman, "Oh Promise Me" by De Koven and "Liebestraum" by Liszt.

Mrs. Johnson appeared at her daughter's wedding in a black crepe dress with black and white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Case was attired in a black dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Case of 626 South Diamond street.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for 45 friends and relatives of the couple at the home of the bride's parents. Luncheon was served buffet style from a long table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake which was arranged in a wreath of flowers and ferns. Assorted bouquets of fall flowers decorated the house. The couple is now on a wedding trip through southern Ohio and Kentucky. For traveling the bride wore a black silk jersey dress with a black picture hat and white accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of white roses. The couple will reside at 382 West Fourth street upon their return.

Mrs. Case is a graduate of Madison high school and is a member of Beta Epsilon sorority. She is employed as a buyer at the R. B. Maxwell company. Mr. Case is a graduate of Madison high school and received his B. S. degree from Ashland college. He is a member of the American Chemical association.

Varied Program Given At Garden Study Club Meet

Mrs. Charles Birch, president of the Mansfield Garden Study club, gave a report on the meeting of the Garden club of Ohio that was held in this city Wednesday and the presentation made to the Garden Study club by Mrs. William Moeller, president of the state meeting, at this session. This award was the annual "Rapid Progress Award" which is given by Miss Moeller to the garden club showing the most progress since its organization. The Garden Study club was organized four months ago.

Mrs. D. E. Patterson, who was hostess at the meeting held yesterday at her home on Arthur avenue, gave a talk on "The Success of my first Flower Garden." during the program. Mrs. E. C. Jenkins also gave a talk on "Planting and Care of Peonies." Reports on various lectures given at the state garden club meeting were given by several club members.

Mrs. R. K. Clark welcomed two new members into the club, Mrs. L. D. Bower and Mrs. George Hout. Luncheon was served tray style at 1 o'clock. On each tray guests found small corsages made of peanuts covered with various colors of cellophane. Fall berries and leaves decorated the rooms. Fourteen members and one guest, Mrs. Walter Wixon, were in attendance. Mrs. H. W. Peterson will be hostess for the next meeting to be held Oct. 10 at her home at 429 Park avenue west. This meeting will be a breakfast party.

They will motor to Long Beach with Mrs. Kurt Hoffman and Mrs. M. C. Moffatt of that city who have been spending the past six weeks visiting Mrs. Moffat's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Doty, Olivesburg road. Miss Doty and Miss Kurtz will spend several weeks with Mrs. Moffatt in Long Beach. They will return to the city by train stopping at Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyo., to visit Miss Doty's brother, Private Don Doty. They will also stop in Salt Lake City, Utah, and San Francisco, Calif.

Mrs. Harold Andrews Opens Program Series

MRS. HAROLD ANDREWS, prominent lecturer and instructor at Ashland college, was the guest speaker at the opening meeting of the fall and winter series of programs for the Mansfield Federation of Women given Friday afternoon at the Women's Club. Introducing a series of studies on the general subject of "Time Tested Books," Mrs. Andrews announced that she had chosen these subjects from three of her own favorites in the realm of great books. The first discussion dealt with tragedy and the next will cover great virtues of gentle comedy.

The speaker pointed out that in the present day, with its hungry following after the newest, best seller, it was well to stop and dedicate a little time to the great books which have "faded out" of the present day picture. The speaker then said she had chosen to discuss books in this series which seemed to have some special application to the present day world.

Using as an example the world today staggering under a burden for which it was not prepared and with which it could not cope, the speaker introduced the study of Hamlet. Frustration and suicide are the early answers to a burden too great to be borne. With power and understanding Shakespeare has shown the evolution of a human soul, growing strong in defeat and finally succeeding in failure. In the course of the lecture many of the great passages from the play were used to illustrate the author's grasp of the enigma of Hamlet's changing personality.

The next studies to be presented by Mrs. Andrews' will be from two of the nineteenth century novels. These talks are entitled "The Quiet Ways of Life" and "An Industrious Chronicler" and will be presented Jan. 9 and April 14 respectively.

Tea was served following Mrs. Andrews' speech. Gregor Ziemer will give the lecture at the luncheon meeting of the Federation being held at the Women's club Oct. 16 at 11 a. m. His subject will be "2010 Days of Hitler."

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Go on!" my father said imperatively, as Miss Whitlock paused, I knew in distaste at having to recount another woman's terror and suffering. But with the patent conviction that she was doing the best thing possible for Lillian and her missing daughter, she steadied her voice, and took up her story again.

"I did not speak to her at first," she said, "for she is one of those women who must bear the first brunt of things alone. But after a silence of fully three minutes, I spoke in as low and even tones as I could manage.

"'Is there anything I can do for you, Mrs. Underwood?' I asked.

"'Thank you,' she said, with the courtesy which is always hers. 'But there is nothing anyone can do just now. I must think things out.'

"I knew what that meant, and I got myself out of the room as speedily and unobtrusively as possible, with a trumped up excuse of things to do downstairs.

Madge Interrupts.

"But I do not think she would have heard me if I had shouted the words," Miss Whitlock went on. "She had straightened herself in her chair, then leaned over—"

"With her elbows on her knees and her chin cupped in her palms," I exclaimed involuntarily, then flushed at the nurse's look of surprise.

"That was her exact attitude," she said.

"How long did she 'think things out'?" my father asked.

"I don't know when she decided upon action," she said, "but she called me about an hour later, and asked me to go out with her on errands that afternoon. We went out to several shops, where she made purchases which I did not see, and she made numerous telephone calls from booths in drug stores.

"We returned to the house directly after seven o'clock," the nurse went on, "and she asked me to telephone first, directing me that if Mr. Underwood answered, I was to mumble 'wrong number' and hang up the telephone quickly. She explained that he had an appointment at seven, that she expected to go out again, and that if he were home and knew of it, he would oppose her going.

"'I can't take the risk of that,' she said. 'Nothing must stop me tonight.'

"But there was no answer to my telephone call, and we hurried to the house, where she unpacked her parcels, disclosing to my surprise a complete suit of deep mourning, with a long sweeping crepe veil.

"Nurse and Patient."

"She also had a wig, a very good one of pepper and salt grey hair, in set waves—an ugly coiffure in contrast to her own beautifully groomed white locks—which, when she put it on, completed a startling change of appearance.

"When she had laid them out, she turned to me, and spoke briskly.

"'Please get into your nurse's uniform,' she said, 'with that long cape and cap you wear when you are attending a patient on the street or in a car. Then come back to me here.'

"I obeyed her as quickly as possible, and when I had returned, she asked me to call a taxi from the garage they patronize, and to ask for one of two drivers. The car came within five minutes, during which she walked up and down, like something caged, muttering 'Pray God he doesn't come before we get away.' But Mr. Underwood didn't appear, and when the car came we hurried into it."

"Did she take anything with her?" my father asked. "Anything, for instance, that looked like a bundle of money?"

"Americanism" Installation Dinner Topic

Veterans and Ladies of the 37th Division A. E. F. Veterans' Association held a dinner and installation of officers in the Swiss Navy Room of the American Legion Home recently. Clyde L. Myers was installed as president of the veterans' organization by Colonel Kenneth Little of Columbus who is national vice president of the 37th division. Other officers of the veterans who were installed were Harry Uplinger, vice president and Paul Webber, secretary-treasurer.

Letha Hageman, past president of the ladies' organization, was installing officer of the Ladies' association. Mildred North was installed as president of this group, Carmen Buzzard, vice president and Ozella Sanderson, secretary-treasurer.

Guest speakers of the evening were Colonel Little, Capt. A. L. Allen and Capt. Glenn Bierly who spoke to the assembly on "Americanism." One hundred were in attendance at the meeting including members from Shelby, Crestline and Ashland. Two honored guests, Colonel Little of Columbus, and Earl Massa, state president of the Rainbow division, were also present.

Following the dinner, which was served at long tables decorated with garden flowers, a program was presented by three guests from Shelby. Toastmaster during the dinner was J. M. Crawford. Miss Sally Van Horn opened the program with a reading entitled "Smilin' Thru." Miss Jo Ann Fish then gave a reading on "The Yanks Are Coming." "All men are created equal," was the name of the reading presented by Miss Velma Van Wagner.

Mrs. Don Leuthner, J. M. Crawford, H. B. Emmer and Mildred North were on the committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner and installation.

SIMPLICITY MARKED CEREMONY AT CHURCH

Miss Dorothy Leech Became Bride of William F. Hoffman Last Evening at 7:30 O'Clock Before Altar of St. John's Church.

THE St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church was decorated with two beauty baskets of gladoli in the pastel shades, palms and lighted candelabra as a background for the wedding ceremony uniting Miss Dorothy Lucille Leech and William Frederick Hoffman last evening. Rev. Paul H. Saleste officiated for the single ring service in the presence of many relatives and friends.

As the clock came to half after seven Miss Leech approached the altar on the arm of her father, Howard R. Leech. She was attired in a Hunter green wool frock, made with full pleated skirt and long sleeved jacket. Her accessories were in brown and she wore a corsage made of brown and picardy gladoli.

Her only attendant was Miss Marguerite Boyer, close friend and sorority sister, who wore beige and brown ensemble with brown accessories. Her corsage was composed of yellow and picardy gladoli.

A. C. Zeiher of Sandusky, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man for Mr. Hoffman.

Mrs. Leech attended her daughter's wedding in a moss green dress with black accessories. Mrs. Hoffman's frock was brown with brown accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow rosebuds.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. Helen Heston preceding the service. Her selections were "Intermezzo" and "Liebestraum."

Immediately following the service a reception was held for 150 guests at the Liederkranz hall. Refreshments were served at small tables. Later in the day the couple left for a southern trip. For traveling Mrs. Hoffman wore her wedding dress and a tan top coat.

After Sept. 29 the young couple will be at home at 16 Glen Beck Lane. Mrs. Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Leech, 248 Harker street, has been employed as bookkeeper at the Citizens' National Bank and Trust company. Mr. Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman, 107 Wolfe avenue, is an employe of the Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing company. Both young people were graduated from the Mansfield Senior high school. The bride is affiliated with the Sigma Kappa Gamma sorority.

CHAPTER XII

Lillian, standing before them now, was something of a spectacle, considering how perfect she usually appeared.

"Dar-ling!" Mrs. Mayfield resumed in shocked, muted voice as she half arose. "Your dress is torn! And—is that adhesive tape on your cheek? Whatever has happened?"

"Yes, it's a tear in my dress, and yes this is adhesive tape on my face," Lillian Mayfield spoke coolly, almost defiantly. The others saw then that she was pale.

Her manner, furthermore, quite definitely precluded any further probing even from her mother. An awkward hush stretched agonizingly until Thad Monroe finally spoke up.

"How about me fixing you a sandwich?" he said, with tenderness, not with his usual bantering tone. "You feel all right?"

"Yes, thanks, Thad. But I—I'm not hungry. Please go on and eat, all of you." She was still avoiding their eyes. Obviously Lillian had come home boiling with anger.

"I've eaten too much already," Thad went on. "Matter of fact, Lillian, I was waiting to, uh, see you. Been talking to your mother. Business." He added this last by way of tacit explanation to the others. "It's not so very late yet. Wonder if we couldn't go for a bit of a walk? Hmmm?"

"All right, Thad." She almost jumped at it, plainly to get away from the unspoken but all-too-evident curiosity here. Thad Monroe was a wise and dependable friend anyway, she knew.

Lillian went for a light coat because the night air was chilly, and Martin approached Thad in the interim of waiting.

"I say, Thad, I don't like—"

"Hold it!" Thad interrupted, bright now with his own inner excitement. "I asked her first. You shoo everybody home while we go walky-talking."

Lillian came tripping down the stairs with her face still set and still showing little color. Without a word to anyone she took Thad's arm and with him went back into the darkness. He led her out the front gate and turned right to walk up the oak-rimmed side of North Marshall, moving rather fast then settling to a stroll. He spoke first.

"Lillian," said he, "I had a long talk with your mother tonight and I'm all hopped up about something. I'm sure glad you'd let me see you alone. And I want to come straight to the point."

She turned to look at him. He had her interest.

"Lillian, little girl, I know I'm a sort of good-boy-Charlie; a joker, and a fat boy, and a genial smoother-over and all that. But I'm hoping you've seen beneath my surface. Now since this oil boom hit I've made a good spot of cash. Tell you the truth, I have a checking account of better than $30,000. That's a lot of money!"

"Of course it is, Thad. I'm happy for you."

"All right. Now I've done a lot of kidding in the past four years about—I mean about making love to you and all such. But right now I'm serious as a church. Lillian, would—will you marry me?"

The girl stopped still.

In the night glow he saw no change come in her expression; only that she was looking squarely at him. Hastily he went on: low and intimate.

"Lord a'mighty, Lillian, I'm crazy about you! You know I am. I've teased a lot but I've loved you too. I—I know some other men want you. Want you bad. But Lillian--!" Thad was beginning to choke up from the sheer intensity of his emotion, very unlike the old easy-going Thad Monroe. "Lillian, will you? Will you have me?"

She wasn't looking at him now; she was gazing off at nothing. But she spoke with sudden vehemence.

"Yes, I will, Thad! I will!"

"You, yes Lillian, you will?"

"I said I would, didn't I?"

"O-o-o-h boy! Hi-yow!"

All at once his mood seemed to bounce from the softest, most sentimental, to one of sheer ebullience. Patently her acceptance had come as a surprise even to him who wanted it so much.

He all but danced a jig. He babbled incoherently. He squeezed her arms. He held her shoulders and shook her a little as he talked and laughed simultaneously—and he was quite unconscious of the fact that she seemed to reciprocate none of his feelings. Then all at once he remembered something.

"Lordy, Lillian, may I kiss you? I—!"

He didn't wait for assent. He kissed her almost violently, but sincerely. A moment later he had an arm around her escorting her back toward home, and he was talking spiritedly even though in low tones. His talk was all that of planning, of thanking her and of swearing eternal fealty and of painting incomparably rosy pictures as an overwhelmed young lover would. And Lillian spoke only when he ended on a question—"When can we be married, honey girl? When?"

"Oh," she said, almost disinterestedly. "I don't kn— I don't think we'd better say yet; not tell anyone for a while. You—really mean it? Seriously?"

"Lillian, honey! Of course I do! You want to keep it a secret? How long?"

"Oh, a while, Thad. Please. And I want to go back in, now. I'm very tired."

"Sure. Sure, I see. Don't blame you, sweetheart. Does upset a person. I can understand how you feel. I want to get off somewhere and pinch myself anyway!"

Alone at last, Lillian began dispiritedly to undress. Tonight there was none of the usual going back and forth to mother's or Dorothy's room, swapping good-night visits and late hour confidences. She had simply gone to her own room and, inexplicably, closed the door.

She saw herself in a full length mirror. In truth it was a vision of loveliness and Lillian Mayfield was intelligent enough to know she was beautiful. But she gave no thought to that happy fact now. She moved closer to look at her left shoulder. Unmistakeably a blue spot would linger there for the next week or more. It was where a table corner had struck her when she was thrown down.

She lifted a corner of the tape on her face and peeled it, first slowly then with a jerk. The scratch there was ugly but not deep. A finger ring had made it. It had happened in the same motion during which her dress had been torn. She hated having to lie about that scratch. To people in her kitchen this evening she had finally murmured "Accident—nothing important." But she knew it had looked suspicious, or at least that her defiant manner had looked so. She couldn't have avoided that; she was too speechless with anger when Dallas Tower brought her home.

She was a little calmer now, but not much so. She reviewed the scene in the dance hall as she slipped into powdery blue pajamas, then sat on her bed hugging one knee under her chin and staring intently at the floor.

* * *

The strange girl had first hugged and kissed Dallas almost vehemently. It was as if they were long parted lovers! Dallas had exhibited—or pretended—astonishment; Lillian couldn't be sure which now. Then the girl had openly and brazenly announced that she wanted Dal to join her party but didn't want Lillian.

The next incidents had been rapid and painful.

"But—but—this is Miss Mayfield, my guest for the evening," Dallas had begun, "and anyway I don't believe I—"

The officious blond had interrupted him, turning to Lillian.

100 PRESENT AT LODGE MEETING IN CRESTLINE

Rebekah Assembly, School of Instruction Held; New Officers Named.

CRESTLINE—More than 100 members of the Rebekah lodges of District 24 were present for the 421st special session of the Ohio Rebekah Assembly and School of Instruction held here Thursday.

Mrs. Walter Morris, Noble Grand of Florence Rebekah lodge, here, opened the afternoon session then turned the meeting to Pauline Armstrong of Crestline, the district president.

Mrs. Gladys Foster of Chagrin Falls, state president; Mrs. Blanche Boyer of Canton, state vice president and Anna I. Henderson of Columbus, state secretary, were then introduced. Mrs. Foster was in charge of the school of instruction.

During the business session Mrs. Pearl Beck of Galion was elected president of the district for 1942 and other officers are Mrs. Grace Klinger of Harpster, vice president; Mrs. Ora Grim of Crestline, secretary, and Mrs. Hazel Frey of Upper Sandusky, treasurer. Tiro was selected as the meeting place for the 1942 School of Instruction and Assembly. The auditing committee consisted of Nellie Schilling of Tiro, Pearl Brewer of Harpster, and Mrs. Beach, Galion, and the resolutions committee, Hazel Frey of Upper Sandusky, Elva Kelly, Galion, and Minnie Luden of Tiro.

The state president and secretary was in charge of the assembly degree for past grands, Mrs. Dorothy Johns of Upper Sandusky being the only candidate. Miss Armstrong and Mrs. L. M. Niswander, both of the local lodge acted as inside and outside guards for the degree work.

Following dinner served the group at the English Lutheran church the evening meeting was resumed and the annual inspection was made of Florence Rebekah lodge with Mrs. Foster the inspecting officer who complimented the lodge on their work and gave them a very good rating.

The state officers present and Mrs. E. G. Jenkins, degre captain of the local lodge, were presented gifts by Miss Armstrong in behalf of the local group.

The district president, Miss Armstrong, who is to be married this Sunday was presented a gift from the district, the presentation being made by Mrs. Hazel Frey of Upper Sandusky.

The 1941 officers of the district who presided for Thursday's meeting with Miss Armstrong were: Pearl Beck, Galion, vice president; Minnie Howell, Tiro, secretary and Eva Niswander, Crestline, treasurer. Members present from out of the district were from Bellville, Willard, New Haven, Mansfield, Bellefontaine and Marion. Lunch was served at the close of the evening session by a committee composed of Mrs. Ora Grim, Mrs. Charles Love and Mrs. Fred Stough.

DAUGHTER BORN

CRESTLINE — A daughter, who has been named Constance Irene, was born Friday at Emergency hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fletcher of Davis street.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Sept. 28.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is an excellent one for promoting all religious, spiritual, affectional and social interests. It is a time for reaching to high aims in such direction with everything pointing to exceptional success and gratification. Ideals and aspirations will be exalted, but keep feet on the ground while the head is in the sky.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of a happy, progressive and prosperous year, with both business and private affairs affording much gratification. The mentality should be shrewd, deep, inventive and original while the emotions will be warm and expansive probably culminating in marriage or happy friendships.

A child born on this day should have a very fine, sympathetic and aspiring nature, with the mind and emotions reaching high expression and much happiness.

For Monday, Sept. 29.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a particularly active and enterprising state of affairs, with many new and extraordinary developments suddenly springing to the front, to be handled with initiative, determination, perseverance as well as a program of well-organized strategem and attack. Novel or revolutionary ideas may be employed but sustained by practical and reasonable as well as conservative standards.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an exceptionally lively, constructive and enterprising year, with new projects and revolutionary and novel ideas succeeding if founded upon workable, logical and accepted standards. Restraint of impulses, excess emotions and other exaggerated stimuli should be rigidly exercised. Definite changes would be advisable if suggested by higher-ups whose aid is required.

A child born on this day while having much originality, unique talents, ideas and aspirations should be practical, constructive, persistent and profound.

CONSERVE YOUR TRUMPS

BUNCHED trumps in the hand of one of the defenders can sometimes turn the most conservative contract into a great problem. It often is best, in such an extremity, to discontinue leading trumps as soon as you know the situation, and instead, work on other suits to make the opponent use up his in the early stages.

After the club A overtook the 10, J and K on the first trick, South put forth his spade A and learned the bad news West held. He then changed plans immediately. Since East had fallen for the gag of covering the club J with the K, South led his heart 6 to the A and called the club Q for a discard of the Heart J, eliminating his only loser in that suit.

Next he ruffed the club 6 with the spade 2 and led the diamond Q, which West trumped with the spade 6. He returned the spade J to kill the 10, the Q winning. On the diamond 2, West discarded a heart, the A winning. When the diamond 6 came back, East playing the 8 and South the J, West put on his spade 7. The heart K was returned, but South ruffed it with the 4, cashed the Spade K and then gave up the diamond 5 to the K, making his contract.

Your Week-End Lesson.

Why would North be making a bad bid if, over South's 1-Spade, he bid 3-Diamonds? What bid would be better and preferred by most advanced students? What principle underlies the preference for that bid as against the jump in diamonds.

the globe. But today we still are hampered by its provisions."

He asserted that under neutrality laws "we have tried to keep our shipping out of trouble by freely surrendering our traditional rights upon the high seas," but "today that policy has proved, on the whole, a failure." He said the policy had failed "because of two things."

Knox said the first point was that "the interests of every citizen of the western hemisphere are overwhelmingly bound up with those of the allies," because "their victory will give us all a chance to build a braver and a wiser world," and "their defeat would create a tremendous "threat to the survival of every one of us."

"Yet," he continued, "when we have come to send our help to these friends whose interests are so closely identified with ours, we have found that these very laws regulating our shipping have handicapped us every time.

"And, in the second place, these laws do not even provide the limited security which they were intended to give. Our ships have been sunk on the high seas while carrying non-military goods to ports far from the zones of fighting."

Discussing protection for merchantmen, Knox explained that the viewpoint of the United States is that both the offensive and the defensive, or convoy, methods "have their advantages," but that "obviously, of course, neither one can be successful without the other."

"We must both hunt down enemy raiders and at the same time convoy our ships to protect them against such hostile craft as elude our patrols," he added.

THEATERS

Horror Classic.

Spencer Tracy's delineation of the dual characters, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," in the Robert Louis Stevenson horror classic showing at the Ohio is only one of the surprises offered by the film adaptation. The two feminine characters portrayed by Ingrid Bergman and Lana Turner are contrary to expectations for the Swedish star plays her first "bad girl" role as Ivy Peterson, the barroom entertainer, while Miss Turner, noted for her glamour girl characterizations, enacts a straight dramatic role as Dr. Jekyll's fiancee. Donald Crisp, Ian Hunter and Sara Allgood are in the cast.

Island Romance.

"Aloma of the South Seas," is spreading vivid color across the Madison screen as the Polynesian romance of Dorothy Lamour and Jon Hall is unfolded. South Sea music, native ceremonies and sacred dances embellish the technicolor film that revolves around a native prince who finds treachery awaiting his return to the island after receiving an education in the States. Dorothy Lamour plays the island beauty torn between love for Hall and Philip Reed, the latter in the role of the villain. Lynne Overman furnishes the comedy as the island's only white man politico. "We Go Fast," the second picture, has Lynn Bari and Alan Curtis.

Tygers Waltz Through Elyria for 39 to 0 Victory

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Anybody want to sponsor a championship bowling team? The All States Freights of last year, winner of the Commercial B-league title, are looking for a backer, one who'll help them go to the A. B. C. at Columbus next spring.

The line forms at the right. Just phone your offer to the Colony alleys.

Bob Laubie, Shelby high school fullback, already is being boomed as good college material.

North Central Ohio league coaches call him "one of the best, because he takes it and likes it."

Oh, a tough guy, eh? Yes sir, that's just it.

And up at Willard they're saying their 208-pound fullback, Jim Whisler, is every bit as good as Jim Langhurst was in high school. He kayoed Ashland's Jim Shull when Shull tried to stop him a week ago.

* * *

Oh the posies that bloom in the fall, tra la, are much hardier things than those in the spring.

Canton McKinley was after its 16th straight victory over Akron South last night. The Bulldogs had won 17 out of 22 gridiron arguments with South's Cavaliers.

You'd think a dispute so often decided one way would cease to be an argument. It has.

Dick Behr, the Fremont feeder, is getting hungry. He says Prexy Joe Donnelly of the Ohio State baseball league, promised loop scribes a dinner the latter part of this month, and here it is the latter part of this month and no food.

"How come, Joe?" queries the Behr plaintively, the while pulling in his belt another two notches.

As the Behr from Fremont said to the Donnelly from Columbus:

"It's a long time between bites."

Jack Mollenkopf, Toledo Waite coach, sent his heroes through Saturday morning practice after Tiffin Junior Order held them to a scoreless tie a week ago last night.

I wouldn't want to discourage the Waites, but if they haven't picked up more than they showed in practice here last spring, they have a lot of Saturday morning sessions coming this autumn.

Baseball Schedules Closing

Boys Merely Putting In Time For the Record Books.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Overshadowed by the proximity of the world series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees, the stormy regular season of the major leagues will drag to an unmourned finish this week-end.

As far as the fans are concerned, the schedule might as well have been defaulted after the Dodgers clinched the National league pennant Thursday, but several odds and ends of interest to baseball people themselves remain to be decided.

Even the Dodgers aren't entirely satisfied. Although they already have won more games than any other Brooklyn club in history, 99, they would like to hit 100.

Dolph Camilli would like to get his 35th homer and tie the Brooklyn record set by Babe Herman in 1930. Pete Reiser, the sensational rookie centerfielder, would like to get a few more hits and try for some kind of a "slam."

He already has the batting championship salted away with a .343 percentage, and he is leading in total hits, doubles, triples and runs scored.

For this reason the Dodgers are glad to have their two final contests with the last-place Phillies.

While all positions have been decided in the National league, the standings in the American still are subject to some changes, with two teams tied for third and a three-way deadlock possible when the curtain falls tomorrow.

* * *

The Indians hold a chance after splitting with the Browns yesterday to pull abreast of both Chicago and Detroit, who were thrown into a tie for third when the Tigers trimmed the White Sox, 4-3.

The New York Yankees posted their 100th and 101st victories by whipping the Washington Senators, 4-1 and 1-0.

In the day's only National league encounter, the Cincinnati Reds nudged out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3. The contest drew only 717 fans.

Canton McKinley Wins Another Tilt

CANTON — McKinley high school gridders, making a strong play for Ohio championship honors, worked out on the Akron South high team last night 20-0 here in Fawcett stadium.

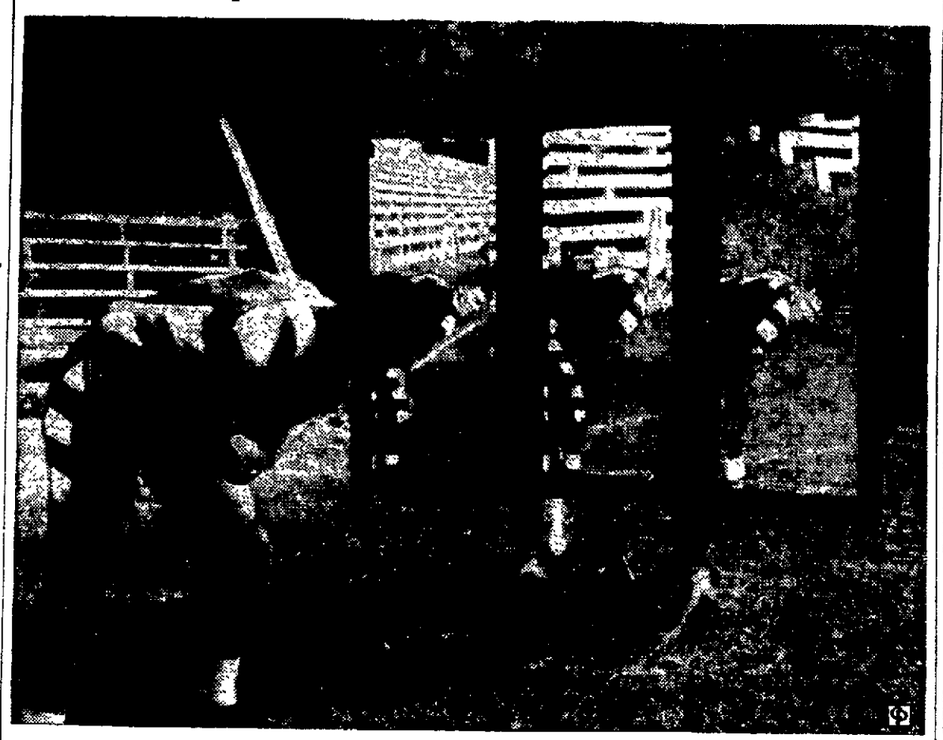
* * *

After a scoreless first stanza the Bulldogs ripped loose for three touchdowns in the second and followed with another in the third.

* * *

Jack Crider led the Canton scoring with two touchdowns and two conversions, one from a line buck and one with a kick.

A New Way To Learn Football?



He's not conceited, although he uses three mirrors to watch himself perform. You see, it's all part of the football coaching technique employed by Capt. Ralph Conger at Wentworth Military academy, Lexington, Mo., to improve the technique of his backs. Tip Masters is the player posing.

New London Wins Second

Swamps Mansfield Reserves 50-0 to Even Series.

NEW LONDON—New London high school's football team is just about even with the city of Mansfield today. Last week the Madison high school gridders came here from Mansfield and lifted a 19-13 victory, but yesterday sweet revenge was the Wildcats'.

Jumping on the Mansfield Reserve team in the last three quarters of the ball game here, they ran up the imposing score of 50-0.

During the first quarter, the Mansfield reserves fought an even battle with the Wildcats, but during the last three weakened.

Biggest slaughter came in the third when the Wildcats ran over four touchdowns to score 26 points.

Loudonville Gridders Win

Snag Doylestown For 13-0 Win on Their Own Field.

LOUDONVILLE — Loudonville gridders took the measure of Doylestown high school here last night and came off with a 13-0 victory.

Scoring in the first and fourth quarter, the Loudonville team tripped Doylestown with two touchdowns.

The first, scored by Jim Young, came from a line plunge. Ken Nouse grabbed a blocked kick and ran over for the extra point.

* * *

Loudonville's second score came in the fourth quarter when Nouse went over from the one-yard-line Wayne Farroetta setup this score with a 50-yard run from his own 30 to the Doylestown 20. From there Loudonville bucked it over.

Johnny Appleseed Holds Butler Team

Johnny Appleseed junior high school gridders got really hot yesterday afternoon and held the Butler high school varsity to a 0-0 tie on the Butler home field.

During the game the Butler team collected itself 105 yards in penalties while the Appleseed boys only took 20 yards.

Butler ended the first half on the Appleseed 20-yard line and the game on the Appleseed two-yard line. Each time the junior high boys were able to hold out for the bell and save themselves from a score.

Defiant and Fighting Madison Team Downed By Dennison

By BUD SPRUNGER

A snarling, defiant Madison Rams team got outscored on their home field last night, 26-6, by Dennison high school.

Dangerous right up until the last minute of the game, the Rams fought the Dennison team across the field time and again, defending their goal with brilliant goal line stands and one time shaking Bob Anthony loose around the left end for a first quarter score.

Top scoring honors for the evening, however, went to big John Williamson, Dennison fullback. Working smoothly with Billy Benedetto in a series of behind the line reverses, he scored three of Dennison's four tallies and was a constant threat throughout the evening.

After a short kickoff by Madison, Dennison started scoring after two plays with a 19 yard run by Williamson who bucked the line for the extra point.

Electing to receive the kickoff, Madison pushed forward to a first down on the Dennison 45. Another first down featuring bucks by Harold Hammer and Anthony followed and finally the Rams shook Anthony loose for a first on the 10. A penalty to within one foot of the goal made a Ram score seem inevitable, but after two line bucks they fumbled and Dennison took over on their own two yard line.

Three first downs brought Dennison to the 40 and from there Benedetto tore loose and raced to the three where he was dragged down from behind by Hammer.

Four line plunges failed to pass the Rams and Dennison's second threat ended.

After a few plays inside their own 10 yard marker, after this threat, the Rams shook Anthony loose around their left end and the fleet back outraced the Dennison backfield for 90 yards and Madison's sole tally.

From there on Dennison managed the scoring. After a 50 yard gallop by Benedetto, Williamson scored again before the half closed. A pass for extra point was i. complete.

Dennison dominated the third quarter, scoring Right Half Ralph Fair on a reverse midway through the quarter and continually pushing the Rams in spite of over 30 yards in clipping penalties.

In the fourth quarter Williamson scored again. Following a run by Fair, making it first and goal, he dived over from the six.

Still charging, the Madison team threatened to score again at the final gun. Tearing Anthony loose they watched him run over the goal only to have the play called back to the place he ran outside.

Benedetto, Dennison's fleet and slippery star back, was injured during the third quarter of the fracas while making a 20 yard gallop, but his coach, John Zimmerman, said last night he believed it was nothing more than a charley horse and that the boy would be able to play next week.

* * *

Hammer was also injured and after the first half remained on the bench. It was a recurrance of an old leg injury.

Coach Al Fendrick said last night that he liked the way his boys played and that, although outclassed, they had given a good account of themselves.

Crestline High Defeats Galion

CRESTLINE — Crestline high gridders turned in their second victory of the season last night, smashing Galion under a 19 to 0 avalanche.

Crestline took the lead early in the first quarter when Barlion plunged over from the four yard line and Simmermacher booted the extra point. Galion threatened in the same period, getting a first down on the Crestline 16, but Crestline held.

The second period passed uneventfully, but in the third, Crestline moved down into scoring position, and early in the final stanza Light bucked over from the one yard line. Simmermacher's kick failed and it was 13-0.

Midway in the last quarter Crestline marched from midfield for the final tally, scored by Doice from the 11 yard stripe. Galion was unable to get past the 50 yard line during the remainder of the game.

HARFMAN ON BENCH

Joe Harfman, regular Madison right guard, did not play in last night's tilt. His brother, Henry, was one of the four young people killed Thursday night when an auto they were riding in struck a railroad train near Willard.

DALTON ELEVEN TRIMS MILLERSBURG TEAM, 19-7.

MILLERSBURG — Dalton high school profited by the forward pass in two plays here last night to down Millersburg, 19-7.

Tearing through the air for two tallies of their own, the Dalton gridders intercepted a Millersburg pass for their other score, scoring all points in the last quarter.

Willard Edges Shelby Eleven

Score 7 to 6 Victory In Third Quarter.

WILLARD — Led by big 208-pound fullback Junior Whisler, the Willard Crimson Flashes took a 7 to 6 victory over the Shelby Whippets here under the floodlights last night before a capacity crowd estimated at 4,000 persons.

Both teams battled evenly during the first half with each team having one chance to score.

Willard broke the deadlock late in the third quarter when a pass from Whisler to Jackson put the ball on the 15 yard line where Whisler crashed over for the score standing up. Whisler ran the extra point over giving Willard the lead, 7 to 0.

A short pass from Laudie to Ernsberger in the middle of the fourth quarter gave Shelby a chance to tie the game up. The placement attempt made by Nimmons was blocked giving Willard the winning edge, 7 to 6.

Tigers Smear Marblehead

Easily Take Intersectional High School Football Game.

MASSILLON—The Tiger football team proved rather conclusively last night that eastern high school football is not up to the standards played in Ohio.

Taking the Marblehead (Mass.) Magicians, top flight eastern team, to the cleaners, the Massillon team emerged from the battle with a 28-6 win and their 35th straight victory.

Massillon scored in every quarter before a crowd of 17,428, some of whom expected a closer scrap after the narrow Massillon squeak last week when theiy edged Wierton, W. Va., 6-0.

* * *

Midway in last night's first quarter Joe Demando blocked a Marblehead punt and Dallas Power recovered behind the goal for a touchdown.

* * *

Other Massillon lads who contributed scores were Bob Kanney who tossed a Marblehead gridder in the end zone for a safety: Bob Graber who roamed 22 yards; Casey who fumbled a kickoff and then ran 82 yards with the recovery, and Capt. Fred Blunt who sparked the cats' score.

Lightnin' Jones Shows Heels to Home Club

Mansfield Ends Smother Attack Of Opponents, Subs Show Fight

ELYRIA football fans sat stunned at the half last night after watching one of the ten best high school football teams in the state of Ohio roll up a 26 to 0 score. But by the time Mansfield high's Tygers, with the second team playing most of the second half, completed their work with a 39-0 victory they got used to it.

The blocking the Elyria team saw in the first half was something new to them, and the defensive work of the Tygers was also a revelation. And the scrappy play of the Mansfield second team left many an Elyria player in a bruised and battered condition today.

Elyria chalked up only two first downs, one against Mansfield's first team deep in Elyria territory, and one against the second team in midfield. And the only Elyria scoring threat, offered on a recovered fumble in the last quarter inside the Tyger 20-yard line, was promptly smothered by the Tyger subs.

The men in the black and white striped shirts proved Elyria's best ball carriers as the Tygers were penalized no less than 180 yards.

Leroy Lightnin' Jones proved the Tygers' best offensive threat, while Joe Romano and Bob "Windy" Winbigler stopped nine-tenths of the Elyria offensive before it got started.

Mansfield's first touchdown came within five minutes of the opening whistle as Ken Krupp tore off a long gain to the Elyria 19-yard line, and Jones circled left end on a reverse for the remaining distance. Adam Brandt booted the extra point, and it was 7-0.

In the second period a punt by Winbigler was downed on the Elyria seven-yard line, a return punt went high and to the side, out of bounds on the 27, and Jones immediately ripped off 17 yards for a first down on the 10. Shortly afterward Bill Doolittle galloped the remaining distance on a bootlegger play to the right. Once more Brandt split the uprights with a place kick and it was 14-0.

The Tygers started their next blitzkrieg from the Elyria 45-yard line. Brandt broke through the line for 20 yards, Jones picked up 13 on a reverse, Doolittle went for a first down on the 11, Brandt bucked for eight, and Jones wheeled left end for three and the touchdown. Brandt's kick was wide and it was 20-0.

And before the half was over, Doolittle took an Elyria punt on the home team's 40-yard line and returned it to the two, where Jones found no difficulty in trotting the remaining distance for the fourth touchdown. Once more Brandt's kick was wide and it was 26-0.

In the third period a 20-yard jaunt by Jones put the ball on the Elyria three-yard line. Jones went into the line for two yards, and Doolittle skirted right end for the touchdown. Again Brandt's kick was wide and it was 32-0.

Midway in the quarter Doolittle signaled for a fair catch on the Elyria 25, and was tackled, so Elyria was penalized to the 10. On the first play Chuck Condon went around right end for a touchdown and this time Brandt's kick was good, making it 39-0.

From there on the Mansfield second team took over, and while they didn't score, because of penalties and fumbles, they showed more fight than both of the starting teams put together. And it looks like the Tyger team of 1942 will be all right too.

It was the worst defeat Elyria had taken in three seasons, and it could have been 70 to 0 just as easily as 39-0 if Coach Paul Snyder had elected to leave his first stringers in the game to roll up the score.

Upper Sandusky Beats Bucyrus

UPPER SANDUSKY — Upper Sandusky shifted its football season into high here last night and topped efforts of the Bucyrus high school grid team 19-6.

The Rams centered their scoring in the last three periods, marking tallies for runs by Capt. Russell Wolfe who rambled 60 yards, John Dardinger and a pass interception by Wolfe followed by a 65-yard goalward dash.

* * *

Bucyrus scored in the fourth period when Jimmy Leuthold plunked over the goal after a two-yard drive. The score was set up with a clicking pass attack.

Bucyrus	0	0	0	6	— 6
Upper Sandusky	0	6	6	7	—19

Platers Plaster Polish Players

Plating Room took all three games from Polishers in the Dominion Electric bowling league at Colony alleys last night.

Melvin McCombs rolled high total with 517 and Leitz turned in high game with 188.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

Purchase of 5000 acres of Ohio land for addition to forest preserves was authorized by the National Forest Reservation Commission as part of a $247,930 outlay for 64,696 acres in 23 states. Ohio purchases, with acreage and costs were: Hocking Valley, 201 acres and $1,104; Muskingum, 2,536 and $16,339; Little Sciota, 1,745 and $9,766, and Symmes Creek, 800.

Every sportsman will find "Gun-Blu" a good investment at $1.00, for touching up worn bluing on firearms, etc. It is NOT a lacquer, but a cold chemical process, that is easy to use, and that gives professional bluing results. "Gun-Blu" is sold at Yuncker's, in a handy package, enough for several guns.

The Pocket Gopher, unlike most animals, is equipped with an astonishing "reverse gear." This little "sun dodger," who spends most of his life in underground tunnels which he himself has excavated, can run backwards as fast he as can forward.

* * *

In areas where flowers are abundant, bees will average about 50,000 miles of flying to collect one pound of honey. In regions where flowers are not plentiful, they may fly as many as 300 000 miles for the same amount.

* * *

Australia and New Zealand have giant ferns that have been known to reach a height of eighty feet.

A bat can carry a heavier load, in proportion to its size, than any bird. It can fly a brood of young whose total exceeds its own.

The world's greatest shooting team, the famous Topperweins, will appear in Mansfield Wednesday, October 1st, at Mansfield Gun club (Park avenue west road at 3 p. m.) This exhibition sponsored by the Charles Mill Sportsmen's club, is packed with unbelievable thrills from start to finish, by this marvelous pair of shooters, who use rifle, pistol and shotgun with equal expertness and uncanny accuracy and speed. This thrilling exhibition is FREE! Come out and enjoy the fun. The Topperweins will be glad to discuss your shooting problems at the conclusion of their exhibition.

LEADING STOCKS MAINTAIN EVEN KEEL IN MARKET

Price Changes Remain Within Minor Fractions; Many Issues Hold Still.

NEW YORK — Leading stocks maintained a fairly even keel in today's early market proceedings with price changes generally in minor fractions.

Up a shade at a quiet opening were Boeing, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, N. Y. Central and General Electric. Dow Chemical slipped along with Western Union and Kennecott. Numerous issues held at Friday's final levels.

Among items studied in financial offices were:

The bureau of mines reported domestic and foreign crude petroleum supplies at the end of the week ended Sept. 20 totalled 246,500,000 barrels, an increase over the preceding week of 336,000 barrels.

The national lumber manufacturers association estimated last week's lumber production was 4 per cent under the week before but 7 per cent greater than in the like period a year ago.

The national machine tool builders association disclosed 85 per cent of the nation's tool plants were operating their key departments from 100 to 168 hours per week to speed output for the defense program.

REACH CHICAGO

Duke, Duchess Score Hit Along Route to Canada.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived in Chicago by train from Washington today en route to the duke's ranch at Calgary, Alta.

They were met by Lewis Bernays, the British consul general, who arranged to take the duke on an automobile tour of the city before their departure for Minneapolis.

The duke and duchess scored a hit at Pittsburgh last night by making a platform appearance during a brief stop of their train.

"We'd like to come to your country more often," the duke said.

occupied French channel ports, a few German raiders dropped bombs on Britain.

In Tokyo, observing the first anniversary of the Axis tripartite pact, Japanese Foreign Minister Toijiro Toyoda declared Germany, Italy and Japan seek a new order in Europe and the Far East and also want peace.

He admitted, however, that the efforts of the Axis powers "will still be confronted by many difficulties and therefore increased efforts will be required."

More trouble cropped up for the Germans in Nazi-occupied zones, and reprisal was taken on hostages. A German announcement in Brussels said alleged Communists raided an ammunition dump and then on Thursday used the stolen explosives to dynamite French trains and German army transport trains. In retaliation, 20 "well-known Communist hostages" were executed in Brussels.

In London a British government spokesman confirmed that Sir Archibald Wavell, commander of the British forces in India, is in Teheran conferring with the Soviet commander for Iran, following a flying visit to London.

"It would be natural for him to discuss with the Russians any joint defense measures deemed necessary."

But the British government denied the Stockholm reports that Britain is organizing an expedition through Iran into the Caucasus. Reports that large numbers of troops and tanks from India were moving to the Caucasus also were branded as "without foundation."

Britain Expected to Send Aid from India

LONDON — (AP) — Signs that Britain plans to send troops from India and the Middle East to aid Russia in defending the all-important Caucasus became increasingly evident today as the German war machine fought almost at the door of that oil-rich area.

The need for speedy British help was stressed by the German attack on the Crimea, but the British kept the Axis guessing as to what actual forces and material might be sent through the new Iran door into the Caucasus.

Four German divisions and Nazi parachute troops were reported pounding at the Crimea in a furious battle, and informed sources said capture of that land would give the Germans partial command of the Black sea, making a sea invasion of the Caucasus a possibility.

Nazis Report No Data on 2 Americans

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The German foreign office informed the state department today that it had no information concerning the Nazi raider Tamesis or the fate of two Americans — Francis J. Vicovari and Ned Laughinghouse — wounded when the Egyptian steamship Zamzam was shelled and sunk by the raider in the south Atlantic on April 17.

Since more than five months have passed without any clue to the disappearance of the sea raider with the two wounded Americans, presumably in the ship's hospital, fears were expressed here that the Tamesis has sunk, carrying Vicovari and Laughinghouse to their death.

Report Italy Loses 29 Ships in Month

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt—(AP)—Italy was reported today to have lost 29 ships totaling 200,000 tons trying to send reinforcements to Libya during September — her blackest month at sea since the defeat of her warships by the British at Matapan.

Information here indicated that Italian efforts to crash the British air and sea blockade between Italy and the North African coast cost her the sinking of one and the damaging of two of every five convoyed troops and supply ships.

A compilation of the losses listed in British communiques since Sept. 1 showed 23 ships of 3,000 to 8,000 tons sunk, besides four liners of more than 20,000 tons each. In addition the communiques said the Italians lost two destroyers.

A 10,000-ton 8-inch gun cruiser was listed as torpedoed and 30 supply ships were reported damaged severely.

told police that the child ran into the path of his car just after he had started on the green light at the intersection.

Darrel T. Grubaugh, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Grubaugh, 23 South Willis avenue, suffered severe cuts and bruises about the body, and had a tooth knocked out when he was struck by a car at the intersection of Park avenue and Walnut street Wednesday night. He was released from General hospital yesterday.

The Grubaugh boy was the second child to be hit by an auto within a period of 24 hours.

YOUTH KILLED

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Nineteen-year-old Jack A. Salyer was killed when struck by an auto on route 33 near Canal Winchester.

Sent To Pen In Auto Death; Judge Warns 'Drinkers'

to cross U. S. Route 42 near his home.

Officers who investigated the accident said Thompson had been drinking. He later admitted that he had "a few drinks."

Arraignment of other defendants named in indictments was set for next Tuesday morning. At that time the court also is expected to dispose of cases that were continued from a previous arraignment to permit more investigation.

Judge Huston yesterday continued the case of James Patton who pleaded guilty to an indictment for grand larceny. Among the defendants whose cases will be heard Tuesday is Andrew Kozma, Mansfield, accused of discharging firearms. Kozma was indicted after he allegedly fired a shotgun charge through the window at his home. The charge narrowly missed his wife on the front porch.

ASSUMES METER COLLECTION JOB

to Kochenderfer's $145, are to make the collections.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said yesterday that Kochenderfer was willing to work until council could make provision for the further appointment and salary. Today, however, after a conference with the collector, Mayor Locke said that Kochenderfer's bond had expired and that collections would have to be made by the police squad.

The mayor said Kochenderfer had offered to work as repair man for the meters until council meets to consider the problem.

Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals announced that his traffic squad would begin collections Monday morning. Collections are made two or three times weekly. The traffic commissioner expressed regret that a traffic officer would be used for the collections.

"I had hoped to keep all of my men for regular traffic work," said Boals, "but we will take over the collection duty Monday morning."

Council members would make no statement on the matter. Kochenderfer's apointment and the legislation for the traffic squad were in opposition to each other, both covering the same task. With the expiration of the appointment, the ordinance became effective.

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

HONEST, YOU AN I ARE TERRIBLE LUCKY — WHEN THE SAILOR FOUND US HIDIN' ON THE SHIP, I WAS AWFUL SCARED —
AN' THE CAPTAIN OF THE SHIP LOOKED REAL MAD — JUST LIKE A JUDGE IN THE COURT, WHEN HE FOUND OUT YOU AN' I WERE TWO STOWAWAYS ON HIS SHIP
HE ASKED ME LOTSA QUESTIONS AN' WHEN HE FOUND OUT I DIDN'T HAVE ANY FOLKS OR MONEY, HE SAID HE WOULDN'T HURT ME OR SEND ME TO JAIL —
DARRELL McCLURE
THEN HE SAID I COULD HELP THE COOK UNTIL WE REACHED PORT AN' THEN HE'D SEE WHAT HE COULD DO ABOUT ME — HE LOOKS KINDA NICE AN' I DON'T THINK HE'S VERY MAD AT ME
NO, CAPTAIN EZRA — THERE IS NO NEWS ABOUT ANNIE — ALL WE KNOW IS THE GARDENER SAW HER PLAYING ON THE ESTATE SATURDAY — WHEN SHE DID NOT APPEAR FOR DINNER —
YES, EVERYONE IN TOWN KNOWS THAT PART OF THE STORY
HERE'S THE LETTER ANNIE SENT TO MOTHER, SAYING "PLEASE DON'T BE MAD AT ME BUT I JUST GOTTA GO AWAY SOME PLACE WHERE I WON'T MAKE TROUBLE FOR ANYBODY —
BLESS HER LITTLE HEART — NO BLAME OR UNKIND WORDS FOR ANYONE — SHE MUST BE FOUND
I HOPE SO, SIR — MOTHER IS FRANTIC — SHE IS SORRY NOW SHE DID NOT HEED YOUR ADVICE
DARRELL McCLURE
GREAT CAESAR! THE CAPTAIN SAID YOU WERE TO HELP ME — NOT DO ALL THE WORK! AFTER ALL, YOU'RE ONLY A CHILD AND —
HONEST, I'M BIGGER THAN I LOOK — AN' I THINK WASHIN' DISHES IS LOTSA FUN
GEE, ZERO, BUT IT'S A LOVELY NIGHT? THE MOON LOOKS JUST LIKE A PRETTY PICTURE HUNG UP IN THE SKY — LOOKS LIKE IT WAS A SHEPHERD — — AN' THE CUTE LITTLE STARS WAS TINY SHEEP ALL COVERED WITH SHINY WOOL — AN' THEY WERE DANCIN' 'ROUND AN' PLAYIN' TAG ALL OVER THE SKY
CONFOUND THE LUCK! LOOKS LIKE WE'RE NOT GOING TO HAVE ANYTHING BUT GOOD WEATHER ALL THE WAY ACROSS!
LOOK AT THAT BLASTED MOON — SHINING DOWN LIKE A SEARCHLIGHT! HERE WE ARE, RUNNING WITH ALL THE SHIP'S LIGHTS OUT — AND THE MOON AND STARS ARE MAKING US AN EASY TARGET FOR ANY SNEAKING SUBMARINE THAT CAN'T HELP SPOTTING US!!
???
DARRELL McCLURE
HOWDY, BILL — HOW ARE YOU AN' THE MISSUS? HOW'S THE COAL BUSINESS?
COULDN'T BE BETTER — I'VE BEEN TRYIN' TO SEE YOU FOR DAYS — DIDN'T HAVE THE TIME
TRYING TO SEE ME? SOMETHING I CAN DO?
IT'S ABOUT THAT KID ANNIE ROONEY — THE ONE WHO RAN AWAY — I HEARD TELL SHE WAS YOUR FRIEND —
I READ HER DESCRIPTION IN THE PAPER — WELL, LAST SATURDAY, WHILE COALING THE FREIGHTER, "MASTIFF," I SAW THE YOUNGSTER AND HER DOG A-SNEAKIN' ABOARD THE "MASTIFF"
THE "MASTIFF"!! JUMPING JUPITER — THAT SHIP IS LOADED WITH AMMUNITION!
DARRELL McCLURE
THIS IS A FUNNY SHIP, ZERO — THE CAPTAIN AN' ALL THE SAILORS HAVE GOT SPY GLASSES AN' THEY KEEP LOOKIN' AN' LOOKIN' AT THE OCEAN ALL THE TIME — AN' I CAN'T TELL WHAT THEY'RE LOOKIN' FOR
NO, ANNIE, I DON'T KNOW WHEN WE WILL REACH PORT — TO BE HONEST I DON'T EVEN KNOW WHAT PORT WE'RE HEADIN' FOR
G'WAN — YOU'RE JUST FOOLIN' ME — EVERY SHIP MUST BE GOIN' SOME PLACE
RIGHT YOU ARE, YOUNGSTER — BUT THE "MASTIFF" IS SAILING UNDER SEALED ORDERS
"SEALED ORDERS" ??
YES — WHEN THE SHIP LEAVES PORT, THE OWNER GIVES THE CAPTAIN HIS ORDERS IN A SEALED ENVELOPE — IN THE MIDDLE OF THE OCEAN THE CAPTAIN OPENS THE ENVELOPE — FINDS THE NAME OF THE PORT HIS CARGO IS CONSIGNED TO
DARRELL McCLURE
YOU KNOW, ANNIE — RIGHT NOW MOST OF THE NATIONS ARE AT WAR — AND IN WAR-TIMES, A SHIP CARRYING A VALUABLE CARGO HAS TO BE MIGHTY CAREFUL OR SHE'LL END UP IN DAVY JONES' LOCKER!
SAIL HO! — STEAMER — THREE POINTS TO STARBOARD!
COME ON, ZERO — IT'S A SHIP — MAYBE WE KIN SEE IT
GEE, ZERO — I CAN'T SEE A SHIP AT ALL — ONLY A TINY LITTLE SMUDGE OF SMOKE ON THE WATER — AN' IT'S AWFUL FAR AWAY
PLEASE, COULD YOU TELL ME — WHAT IS OUR SHIP TURNING 'ROUND AGAIN FOR??
SORRY, YOUNGSTER — ONLY THE CAPTAIN COULD ANSWER THAT QUESTION — MIGHT BE HE DON'T WANT ANY SHIP TO GET TOO CLOSE TO US
DARRELL McCLURE
HONEST ZERO — I'M SORTA GETTIN' THE WIM-WAMS — WE SNEAK ALONG 'CROSS THE OCEAN LIKE WE WERE HIDIN' FROM SOMEONE — EVERY TIME WE SEE ANOTHER SHIP, EVERYONE ACTS KINDA SCARED AN' NERVOUS!

IF IT HAPPENS LATE SATURDAY OR EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

It Will Be In The Sunday Edition of News-Journal

SECRET AGENT X-9

SO LONG, BOYS... I HOPE YOU TWO FLATFEET WILL EXCUSE ME — I HAVE A DATE WITH A HAIR-DRESSER... DON'T BOTHER WAITING!
UNDOUBTEDLY "LADY" HAS THE STOLEN MONEY IN HER HOTEL ROOM, X-9, BUT SHE'S GIVEN US THE "BRUSH-OFF", AS YOU AMERICANS PUT IT!
I'D SAY THAT WAS ALL TO THE GOOD, INSPECTOR!
THE KEY TO HER ROOM! HOW IN THE WORLD DID YOU GET IT?
BACK IN THE STATES, I HAVE A FRIEND WHO IS A PROFESSIONAL MAGICIAN — HE TAUGHT ME THAT THE HAND CAN BE QUICKER THAN THE SPY!
SHALL I GO UP WITH YOU, X-9?
BETTER WAIT HERE AND STALL "LADY" IF SHE POPS ALONG!
MEL GRAFF
"LADY'S" GOT THE MONEY SHE LIFTED FROM HILARY'S VAULT AT THE BANK HIDDEN SOMEWHERE IN THIS SUITE OF ROOMS — GOT IT WELL TUCKED AWAY!
NO, YOU DON'T!
WELL! WELL, QUISS, "LADY'S" BOSS SPY! WE MET IN HER ROOMS ONCE BEFORE — REMEMBER? I JUST STOPPED BY TO PICK UP THIS LITTLE BOX OF STOLEN DOUGH! NICE NIGHT FOR A SHOWER!
MEL GRAFF
I'VE RECOVERED THE STOLEN DOUGH — FOUND ONE OF "LADY'S" STOOGES IN HER ROOMS.. I LOCKED HIM IN... SEEN "LADY"? I'M PUTTING HER IN JAIL, IF IT TAKES ALL WINTER!
MARVELOUS, X-9! SHE'S WAITING FOR US AROUND THE CORNER!
WAITING FOR US? SHE'S NOT THAT DIM-WITTED!
THERE'S SOMETHING I FORGOT TO TELL YOU — OH, THERE SHE IS NOW!
"LADY" CYNTHIA IS ONE OF US! HAS WORKED WITH SCOTLAND YARD FOR YEARS — SHE'S AN ADVENTUROUS GIRL AND A BEAUTIFUL ONE... DON'T YOU AGREE, X-9?
STOP FROWNING, G-MAN! POOR CHAP — HE'S DISAPPOINTED.
NOT AT ALL! IT'S OKAY WITH ME... LET'S GET TO THE PLANE!
OH, BUT I'M NOT LEAVING! MY JOB GOES RIGHT ON! I CAN'T QUIT NOW!
MEL GRAFF
YOU SEE, X-9, MY WORK GOES RIGHT ON — MAKING QUISS THINK THAT I'M STILL ONE OF HIS SPIES! I CAN'T LEAVE, NOW!
I'M AFRAID YOU'LL HAVE TO!
WHAT DO YOU MEAN?
THIS IS THE SECOND TIME QUISS HAS SEEN ME IN YOUR ROOMS! IF HE'S NOT WISE TO YOU BY NOW, HE'S SIMPLE-MINDED!
HEAVENS! I'D FORGOTTEN THAT I TRIED TO HIDE YOU IN MY APARTMENT BACK IN WASHINGTON! I TOLD QUISS THEN THAT YOU WERE JUST AN ADMIRER!
MEL GRAFF
GREAT SCOTT! IN THAT CASE, YOUR LIFE WON'T BE WORTH TUPPENCE, IF QUISS FINDS YOU AGAIN! X-9 IS RIGHT! YOU'VE GOT TO COME WITH US, "LADY"!
QUICK! THE LIFT IS ON THE WAY DOWN — QUISS MAY BE ON IT WITH SOME OF HIS HIRELINGS!
X-9 IS RIGHT, "LADY"... QUISS MAY HAVE THOUGHT X-9 WAS JUST AN ADMIRER WHEN HE FOUND HIM IN YOUR APARTMENT BACK IN WASHINGTON, BUT HE KNOWS DIFFERENT, NOW!
THE LIFT IS ON ITS WAY DOWN! QUISS MAY BE ON IT!
I'LL DESTROY THE FUSE... THAT'LL STOP THE LIFT AND GIVE US A CHANCE TO CLEAR OUT!
A MOMENT LATER... ON THE LIFT...
WE'VE STOPPED BETWEEN FLOORS... THIS IS SOME TRICK TO DELAY US! RING THE EMERGENCY BELL — QUICKLY!
MOST OF THESE CAB-DRIVERS ARE ON QUISS' PAYROLL... COME WITH ME — THERE'S A DRIVER AROUND THE OTHER SIDE WHO IS MORE FRIENDLY TO OUR CAUSE!
MEL GRAFF
EH? WH— WHAT IS IT?
POP! WAKE UP! YOU'VE GOT TO GET US AWAY FROM HERE! WE MAY BE FOLLOWED!
LOOKS LIKE WE'VE GIVEN QUISS AND HIS SPY CREW THE SHAKE, X-9! I THINK WE SHOULD GIVE "LADY" A VOTE OF THANKS!
UH-HUH SURE THING, INSPECTOR.. YEAH...
X-9 LOOKS SO UNHAPPY, INSPECTOR... DO YOU SUPPOSE IT'S BECAUSE A WOMAN IS GIVING THE ORDERS?
OKAY, "LADY"... YOU GET THE VOTE!

POLLY AND HER PALS

POLLY'S CAREER
AS AN ACTRESS APPEARS TO BE SHORT-LIVED, AS A RESULT OF A SLIGHT MISUNDERSTANDING WITH THE THEATRE OWNER
THAT WAS MR BUCKSMORE YOU SLAPPED! HE OWNS THIS THEATRE!
HE DESERVED IT! 'SIDES, POLLY DIDN'T SLAP HIM HARD!
THAT'S NOT THE POINT! POLLY HUMILIATED HIM BY SLAPPING HIM IN FRONT OF ALL THE CAST!
MAYBE YOU'RE RIGHT I'LL APOLOGIZE TO HIM
MR BUCKSMORE - - I APOLOGIZE -- I'M SORRY I STRUCK YOU -
- - IN FRONT OF ALL THOSE PEOPLE!

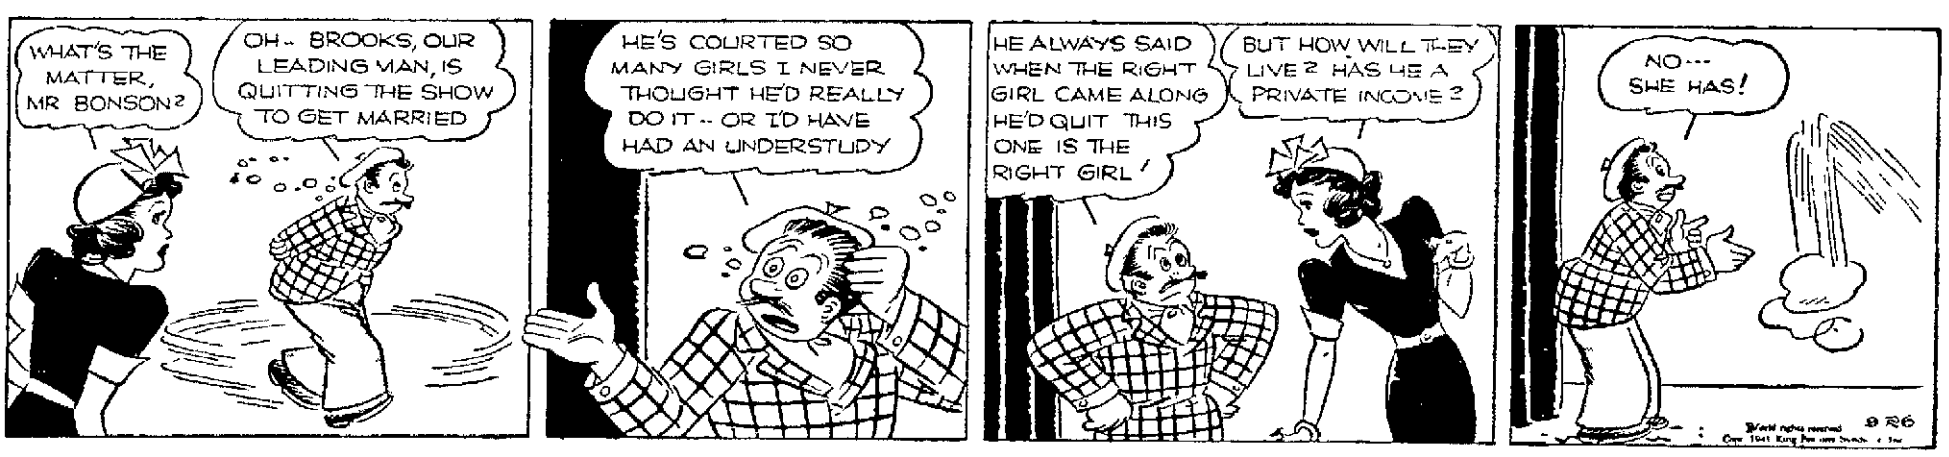
YOUR PLAY REHEARSAL IS CALLED OFF, POLLY?
YES, SUSAN, THE LEADING LADY TOOK SOME MEDICINE THAT MADE HER HOARSE
NOW SHE CAN'T EVEN SPEAK ONE WORD
I'D LIKE T'GIVE SOME O' THAT STUFF T' ONE OF OUR LODGE MEMBERS
WHY? DOES HE TALK A LOT?
9 24
NO--- BUT HIS WIFE DOES!

POLLY, DID YOU SEE THESE WRITE UPS? THEY'RE PUBLICITY FOR THE PLAY
NO - I'D LIKE TO!
GOSH, THIS ONE SAYS YOU ARE ONE OF THE GENIUSES OF THE THEATRE A REAL CHAMPION OF GOOD DRAMA!
THE PERSON WHO WROTE THIS MUST HAVE A WONDERFUL OPINION OF YOU DO YOU KNOW HIM?
QUITE WELL -
YOU SEE MY WIFE IS MARRIED TO HIM!
9 25



WHAT'S THE MATTER, MR BONSON?
OH - BROOKS, OUR LEADING MAN, IS QUITTING THE SHOW TO GET MARRIED
HE'S COURTED SO MANY GIRLS I NEVER THOUGHT HE'D REALLY DO IT -- OR I'D HAVE HAD AN UNDERSTUDY
HE ALWAYS SAID WHEN THE RIGHT GIRL CAME ALONG HE'D QUIT THIS ONE IS THE RIGHT GIRL!
BUT HOW WILL THEY LIVE? HAS HE A PRIVATE INCOME?
NO--- SHE HAS!
9 26

GOSH, MR JONES READS THOSE LINES TERRIBLY HOW LONG HAS HE BEEN ACTING?
SHHHH- HE HEARD YOU!
OH - BUT IT ISN'T MR JONES' FAULT IT'S JUST THAT THE PLAY, ITSELF, IS BAD!
NOW WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH HIM?

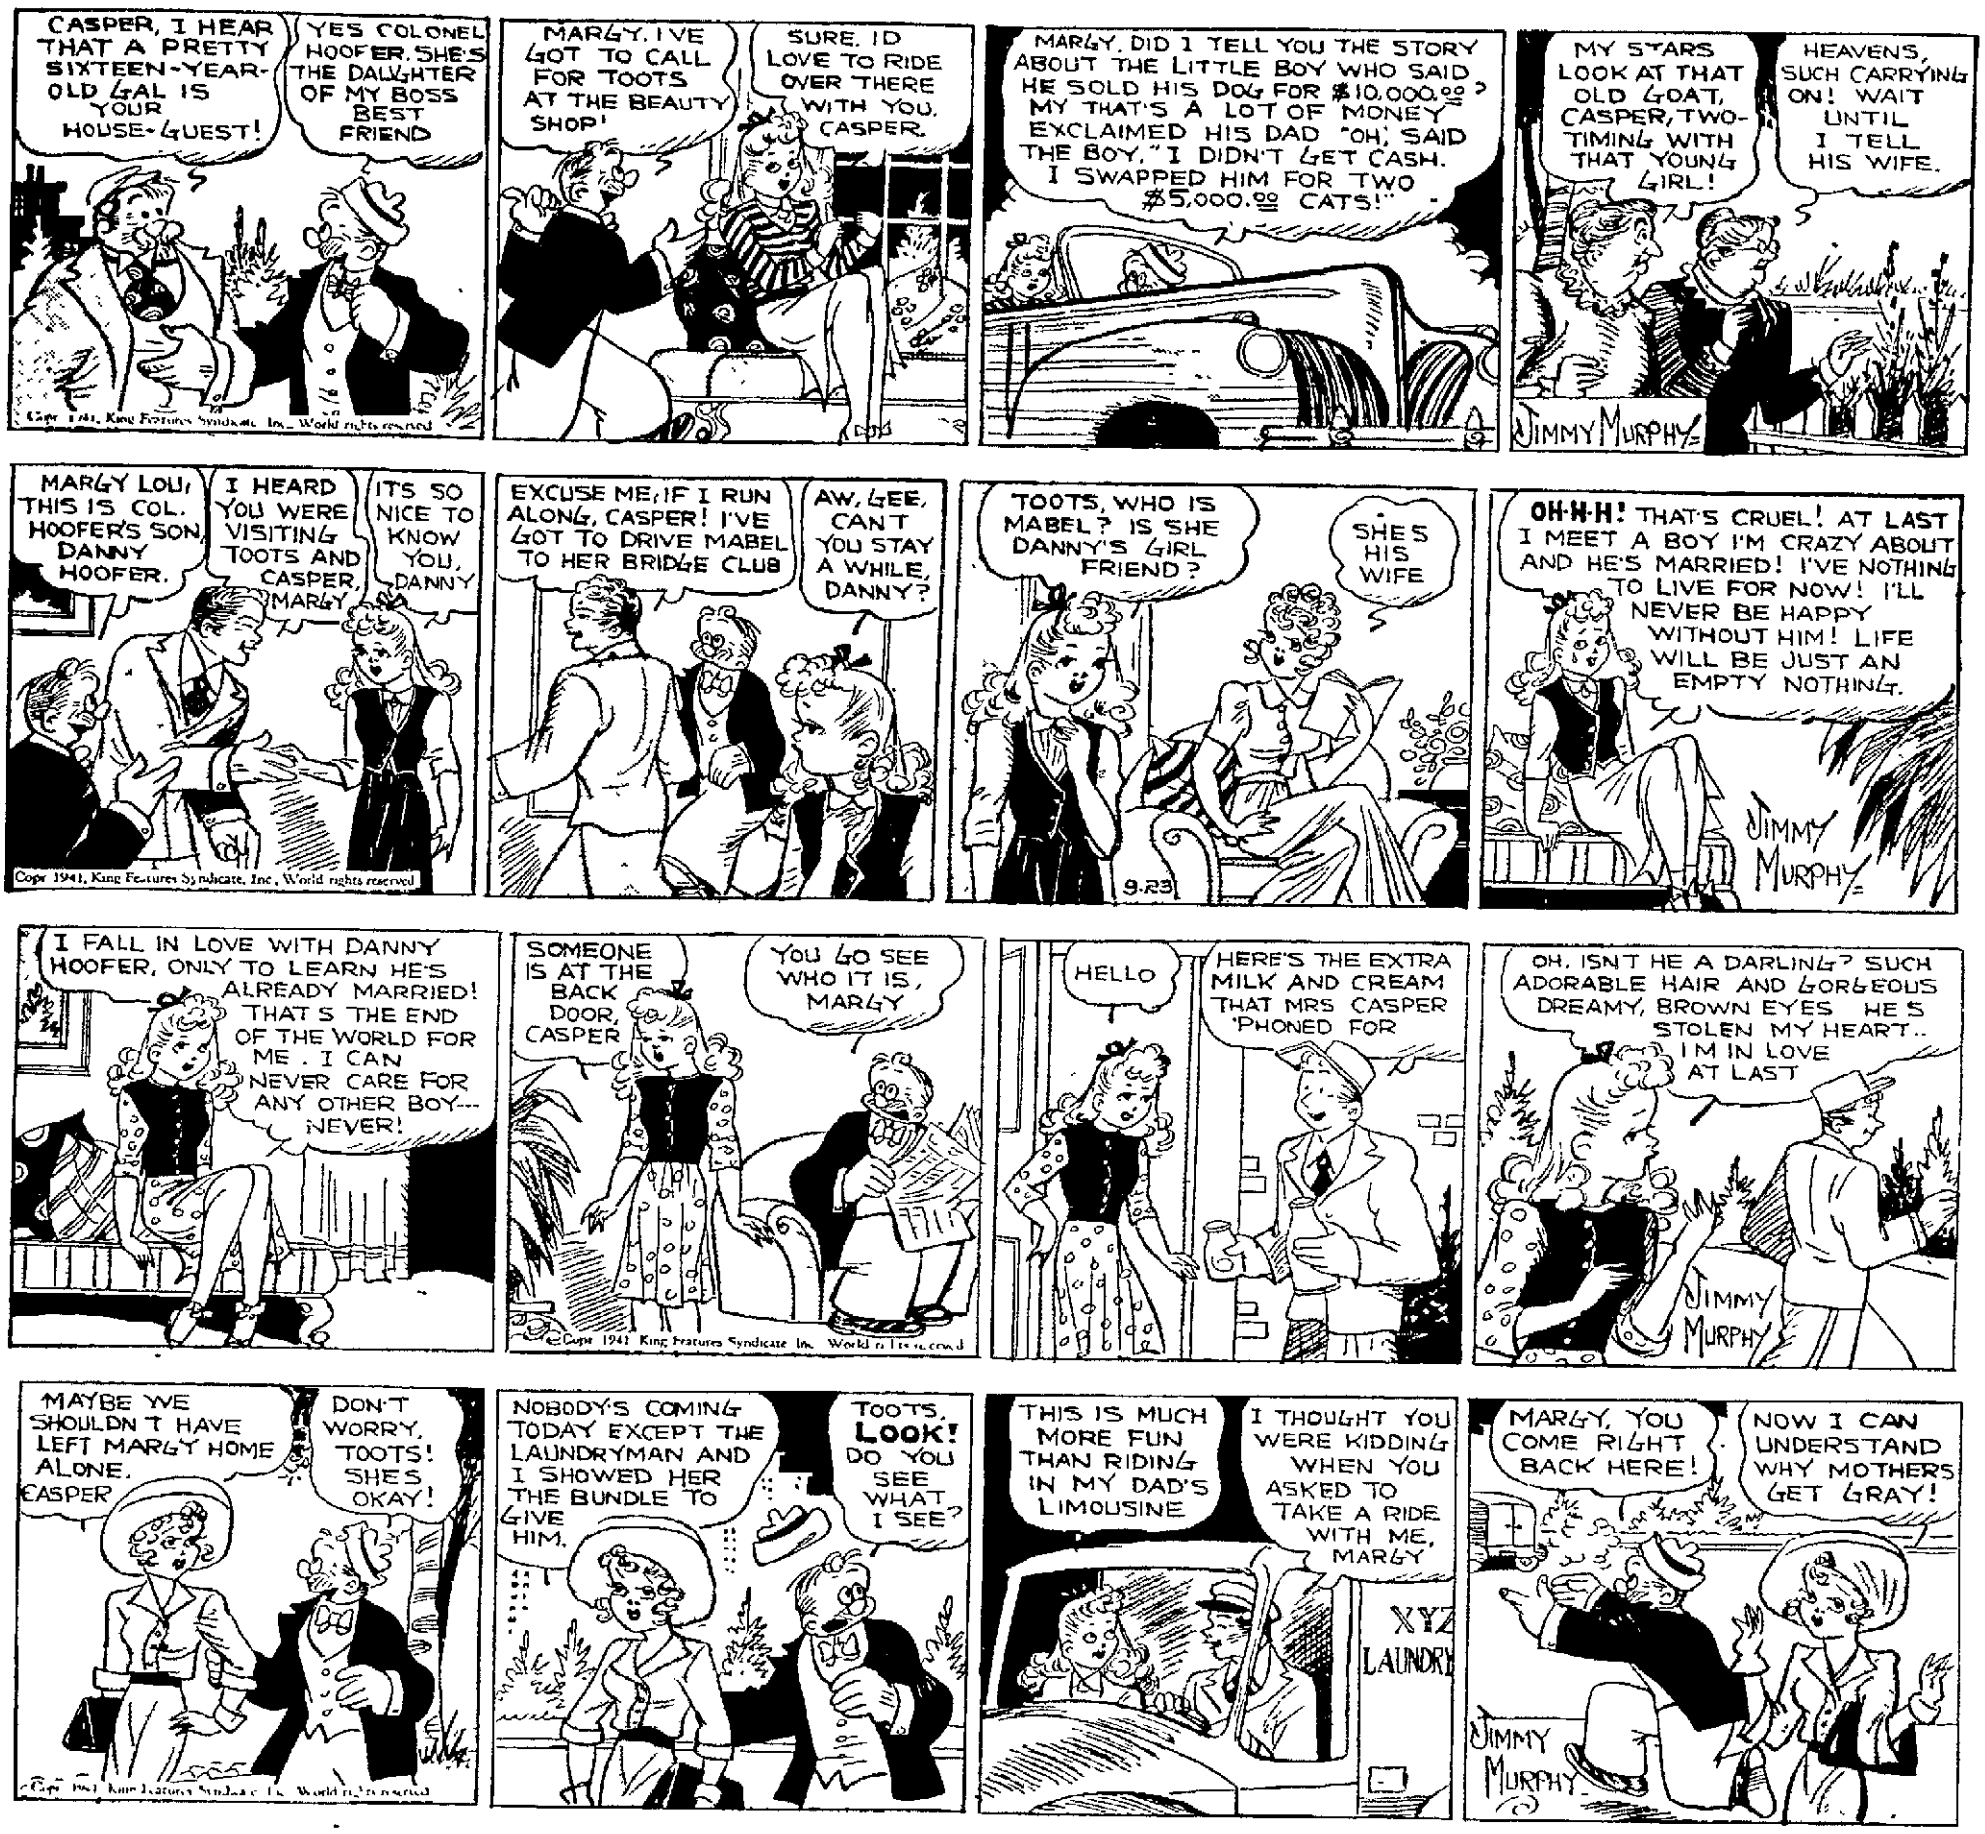
TOOTS AND CASPER



CASPER, I HEAR THAT A PRETTY SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD GAL IS YOUR HOUSE-GUEST!
YES COLONEL HOOFER. SHE'S THE DAUGHTER OF MY BOSS BEST FRIEND
MARGY, I'VE GOT TO CALL FOR TOOTS AT THE BEAUTY SHOP!
SURE. I'D LOVE TO RIDE OVER THERE WITH YOU, CASPER.
MARGY, DID I TELL YOU THE STORY ABOUT THE LITTLE BOY WHO SAID HE SOLD HIS DOG FOR $10,000.00? MY THAT'S A LOT OF MONEY EXCLAIMED HIS DAD "OH," SAID THE BOY, "I DIDN'T GET CASH. I SWAPPED HIM FOR TWO $5,000.00 CATS!"
MY STARS LOOK AT THAT OLD GOAT, CASPER, TWO-TIMING WITH THAT YOUNG GIRL!
HEAVENS, SUCH CARRYING ON! WAIT UNTIL I TELL HIS WIFE.
JIMMY MURPHY
MARGY LOU, THIS IS COL. HOOFER'S SON, DANNY HOOFER.
I HEARD YOU WERE VISITING TOOTS AND CASPER, MARGY
ITS SO NICE TO KNOW YOU, DANNY
Copr 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
EXCUSE ME; IF I RUN ALONG, CASPER! I'VE GOT TO DRIVE MABEL TO HER BRIDGE CLUB
AW, GEE, CAN'T YOU STAY A WHILE, DANNY?
TOOTS, WHO IS MABEL? IS SHE DANNY'S GIRL FRIEND?
SHE'S HIS WIFE
9-23
OH-H-H! THAT'S CRUEL! AT LAST I MEET A BOY I'M CRAZY ABOUT AND HE'S MARRIED! I'VE NOTHING TO LIVE FOR NOW! I'LL NEVER BE HAPPY WITHOUT HIM! LIFE WILL BE JUST AN EMPTY NOTHING.
JIMMY MURPHY
I FALL IN LOVE WITH DANNY HOOFER, ONLY TO LEARN HE'S ALREADY MARRIED! THAT'S THE END OF THE WORLD FOR ME. I CAN NEVER CARE FOR ANY OTHER BOY--- NEVER!
SOMEONE IS AT THE BACK DOOR, CASPER
YOU GO SEE WHO IT IS, MARGY

HELLO
HERE'S THE EXTRA MILK AND CREAM THAT MRS CASPER 'PHONED FOR
OH, ISN'T HE A DARLING? SUCH ADORABLE HAIR AND GORGEOUS DREAMY, BROWN EYES HE'S STOLEN MY HEART.. I'M IN LOVE AT LAST
JIMMY MURPHY
MAYBE WE SHOULDN'T HAVE LEFT MARGY HOME ALONE, CASPER
DON'T WORRY, TOOTS! SHE'S OKAY!
NOBODY'S COMING TODAY EXCEPT THE LAUNDRYMAN AND I SHOWED HER THE BUNDLE TO GIVE HIM.
TOOTS, LOOK! DO YOU SEE WHAT I SEE?
THIS IS MUCH MORE FUN THAN RIDING IN MY DAD'S LIMOUSINE
I THOUGHT YOU WERE KIDDING WHEN YOU ASKED TO TAKE A RIDE WITH ME, MARGY
XYZ LAUNDRY
MARGY, YOU COME RIGHT BACK HERE!
NOW I CAN UNDERSTAND WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY!
